BIG RELIEF BILL REACHES FLOOR OF LEGISLATURE

House Finance Committee Reports Measure For Immediate Action

"RIPPER" ACT CONSIDERED

Matching Required Under Proposal; Four Statutes Tossed In Hopper

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—The house finance committee today sped the $5,000,000 temporary relief bill on its way toward consideration on the floor of the House by unanimously reporting it out with a recommendation for passage. Provisions of the bill were left unchanged as received from the welfare committee.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—Republican leaders faced a dual role today—that of steering the $5,000,000 relief bill through finance committee and considering a bill designed to reorganize the unemployment compensation commission.

Speaker William M. McCulloch indicated that the administration was desirous of having the unemployment insurance "ripper" measure hurried through committee in accordance with the program outlined by Governor Bricker.

Matching Required
The bill requires that relief be matched dollar for dollar by local subdivisions. It was referred to the finance committee over the objections of the Democratic minority, which contended that urban areas could not meet the matching clause in the bill.

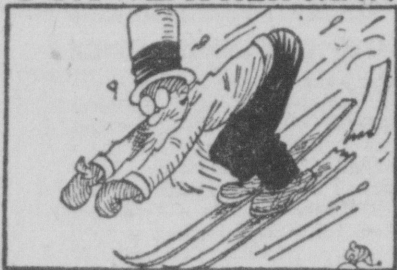

Highlight of the senate session was the introduction of four bills which fit in with the administration.

Actress Burned

ERIN O'BRIEN-MOORE, stage and screen actress, was severely burned about the face, hands and legs when a carelessly thrown match made a torch of her net dress while she was dining in a New York restaurant. Miss O'Brien-Moore is the wife of Mark Barron, news service drama critic.

CHICAGO WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND; LOST LOVE CITED

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—Fear that an "office wife" had captured his love drove Mrs. Sarah Wade, 59, to kill her husband, Lawrence, 51, and then attempt to end her own life, it was revealed today.

Notes left in their hotel room where the dead man and his wounded wife were found, accused Miss Blanche Grimme, 33, of twice trying to break up their home.

Miss Grimme, according to police, readily admitted that her love for Wade had been of long standing.

"I knew him for 17 years," she was quoted as saying, "His wife was an invalid and he did not feel free to obtain a divorce or we would have been married long ago."

The letter written by Mrs. Wade complained against her husband's attentions to Miss Grimme, citing in particular:

"Every year he had me cut two dozen of our best peonies to take to that woman."

STATUTE TO END NUDISM SOUGHT BY OHIO SOLON

COUMBUS, Jan. 25—A bill calculated to drive nudism from Ohio was in the house hopper today, ostensibly to avoid any possibility that the state will be selected for the next national convention of the nudists.

Persistent rumors, according to Rep. Lawrence Kellar (R-Delaware) have indicated that the nudists planned to hold their next get-together in Delaware county.

Consequently Kellar introduced a bill which would fix a maximum sentence of six months—or both—for any nudists caught in groups.

BICYCLE LAW VIOLATORS ORDERED TO FACE JUDGE

Two more Circleville youths were ordered to report to Police Chief William McCrady, Wednesday afternoon, to be taken before Judge C. C. Young of Juvenile court for violation of bicycle regulations. Those ordered to report are Elmer Robinson, Jr., 14, of 433 S. Court street, and Carl Thompson, 12, of 415 S. Pickaway street. Police said the youths were riding "double" and on the wrong side of the street and had no lights for night riding. Police opened a drive this week against children violating regulations on bicycles.

Home Building Boom Expected

30 New Residences May Be Started As Soon As Warm Weather Arrives

1937, MAY BE ECLIPSED

Structures To Cost From $3,000 To $8,000, City Lumbermen Declare

Home building will be on the boom again in Circleville beginning in the Spring. This activity will follow a practical vacation in 1938. Lumbermen and contractors say that inquiries indicate that at least 30 residences will be erected during warm weather. Included among those expecting to build are several Columbus residents who have determined they are as close to their employment in Columbus as they are when living in Columbus suburbs.

Lumbermen declare that the Spring and Summer building will see houses erected that will cost $3,000 to $8,000. Several of the structures will be built with assistance of the Federal Housing administration plan.

The year of 1937 saw home construction establish what is believed to be an all-time mark in Circleville, more than 25 new homes being completed. In 1938, due mostly, contractors believe, to the "recession", only six new homes were constructed. If all present indications are followed 1939 will see a spurt that will rival the mark established in 1937.

National observers, who predict that 1939 business generally will show a great improvement over 1938, look to the building industry to lead the way. At least a 25 percent increase is predicted in national building by several forecasters. Circleville's building gain may surpass this mark, if the present trend continues to develop.

GEHRIG ACCEPTS SALARY OFFERED BY YANK BOSSES

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Lou Gehrig, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, and highest-salaried player in baseball last year, today signed his 1939 contract without comment.

His salary last year was said to be $39,000. His quick acceptance of terms today may mean that his new contract calls for the same stipend or one slightly less.

Many thought that Gehrig was due for a big cut following a mediocre season in which he batted only .295. Others believed the club would take into consideration his faithful service and great playing through 13 seasons during which he rolled up an imposing string of records, not the least remarkable of which is his consecutive game mark which is now well into the 1800s.

Gehrig surprised those who thought he might be a stubborn holdout by shooting back his signed contract almost as soon as he received it.

NAZIS HOLDING VITAL PLACE IN MEXICAN LIFE?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Charging that Nazi Germany has entrenched itself in Mexico, Rep. Martin J. Kennedy (D) of New York, today introduced a resolution in the house calling for a congressional investigation of American-Mexican relations. "Mexico", Kennedy held, "may justly be classified as a dependency of Germany."

The New York member, a frequent critic of Mexico's religious and economic policies, proposed creation of a house committee of seven to make the inquiry. The resolution calls for an appropriation of $30,000.

NEW SCARLETT O'HARA WORRIED BY CRITICISM

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25 — A worried Scarlett O'Hara sat in a bungalow at the Selznick studio today trying to figure out how to win over a loud minority of fans who have set themselves against her.

In her party gown of the Civil War period, English Actress Vivien Leigh easily rated the title of Hollywood's most beautiful newcomer since Hedy Lamarr.

But she was plainly nervous. "Most of the letters are complimentary," she said, "and, strangely enough, the objections are not coming from the South but from other parts of the country. The southern people have been very nice about my getting the role."

Martin, Dubinsky In Parley; Auto, Garment Workers Tieup Considered

DETROIT, Jan. 25 — Homer Martin, deposed president of the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers Union, was in New York today conferring with David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers union that walked out of the C. I. O. after Dubinsky rebelled against C. I. O. Leader John L. Lewis.

The conference confirmed rumors long heard of a possible tie-up between Martin and Dubinsky. Martin has frequently acknowledged his warm friendship for Dubinsky and sympathy for his ideas as a union leader.

Martin went to Dubinsky almost immediately after the C. I. O. through its strength behind the anti-Martin faction in the U.A.W. It was his first move in his announced plan to fight for control of organized labor in the auto industry.

TEMPERATURE AT 20 IN MORNING; ROADS SLIPPERY

Winter continued to hold its grip on Circleville Wednesday with the low temperature at 20 degrees. Highest temperature Tuesday was 32 degrees.

Snow Tuesday night made highways and streets slippery. Employees of the highway department worked all night sanding grades and intersections. Street intersections were sanded by the service department.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather recorder, said the snow was too light and there was too much wind to obtain any record of the precipitation. The wind blew the snow out of the apparatus used for obtaining a measurement.

The state weather bureau predicted warmer temperatures for Thursday.

British Cabinet Meets To Discuss Latest News From Barcelona

LONDON, Jan. 25—France was warned in an officially inspired statement issued in Rome today of the consequences of interfering with the "inevitable victory" of Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco, according to a Rome dispatch to Reuters.

More than thirty battalions of Italian regulars, comprising approximately 30,000 men, are concentrated in the vicinity of Spezia and Genoa, according to reports reaching Rome, the Reuters message said.

These troops are said to be ready to leave for Spain at a moment's notice in the event of any French movement across the Franco-Spanish frontier.

Chillicothe's Light Rate Dispute Goes to Court

Chillicothe's light rate situation Wednesday was similar to that of Circleville.

In Chillicothe a citizens' committee is seeking funds to employ an attorney to fight an injunction action which stopped a referendum move against light rate ordinances. The group plans to employ an outside attorney familiar with referendum litigation and municipal ownership procedure.

There were 1,362 signatures affixed to petitions asking that the rate ordinances be submitted to voters next November. They were filed with the city auditor, but the solicitor held they were invalid because of improper procedure before securing the signatures.

A temporary injunction was approved for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company

Heroine of Tragedy

HEROISM of Mrs. Edna Watson of Montreal, a passenger on the ill-fated flying boat Cavalier, is being retold over and over again as the air and sea drama continues to hold the interest of newspaper readers everywhere. Mrs. Watson saved the life of Capt. M. R. Alderson by holding him up for hours in the water while he was unconscious.

CAPTAIN CLAIMS CAUSE OF LINER CRASH MYSTERY

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — Vague and at times contradictory statements today confronted investigators for the British government attempting to fix the cause for the crash of the Bermuda-bound airliner Cavalier Saturday in the Atlantic with a loss of three lives.

Although the last S. O. S. calls from the falling ship indicated its four giant motors suddenly stalled because of ice conditions, the skipper, Capt. M. R. Alderson, insisted that that was not the cause.

"The ice hazard was negligible," said Capt. Alderson, one of the 10 survivors rescued by the Esso Baytown, an oil tanker. "I have flown through much worse weather without mishap. Why all four motors failed, forcing the ship into mountainous seas, is a mystery to me."

Depositions taken from the 10 hardy survivors, now scattered to their homes and hotels, will be introduced at a formal inquiry to be held later in Canada or Bermuda. The present preliminary inquiry was being conducted by Capt. George C. Pirie, air attaché at the British embassy in Washington.

Meanwhile, the number of life preservers available for the passengers was a debated question. Captain Alderson said the survivors clung to nine lifebelts in the seas. Mrs. Edna Watson, one of the survivors, said there were six. A sailor on the rescue ship fixed the number at four.

Bombing Planes Ordered To Relieve Stricken Areas In Chile District

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 25—Unconfirmed reports from Concepcion today hinted at a death toll of at least 2,000 in a violent earthquake which rocked Talca and surrounding territory.

More than 40 percent of all buildings in some districts were levelled, the reports said.

The Chilean war department rushed a fleet of bombing planes to all the affected towns. The pilots were instructed to take steps to establish communications by radio with the devastated areas.

President Pedro Aguirre Cerda took charge personally of a relief expedition which is to be sent to the earthquake zone later in the day.

The tremor apparently centered near Talca, where many buildings, including a prison, collapsed. According to latest advices, at least five persons were killed in the quake zone and many were injured at Talca and Los Angeles.

Damage was reported as very extensive, but the value of damaged property was not estimated.

All communications with the stricken area were interrupted and there was but little information available immediately. The Chilean government rushed relief workers and supplies to the quake region.

ADMIRAL LEAHY LAUDS PLAN TO PROTECT GUAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The highest-ranking officer in the navy today declared that the complete fortification of Guam would provide "valuable and needed assistance in repelling attack on continental United States, Hawaii and the Panama Canal."

As the first witness before the house naval affairs committee testifying on the proposals to establish 12 new air bases in the Atlantic and Pacific, Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, asserted that fortification of the tiny Pacific outpost also would furnish defense for the Philippines and constitute a "vital link" in this country's commercial relations with the Orient.

But, he said, these were his "personal" recommendations. In keeping with the government's present defense policy, the admiral added, he concurs with the navy department that the present requirements at Guam can be met by "improving" its aviation facilities "primarily" for commercial use.

British Ship Says Capture "Imminent"; Women Go To Trenches

CAP CERBERE, France, Jan. 25—French anti-aircraft batteries today fired warning shots at four Spanish insurgent Savoia bombing planes circling French territory. Spanish anti-aircraft batteries south of Port Bou drove off the attackers.

LONDON, Jan. 25 — Fall of Barcelona is "imminent," the British cruiser Devonshire, lying off the provisional Spanish government capital, radioed the British admiralty today.

By International News Service
Tightening their three-pronged grip on the beleaguered city of Barcelona, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's insurgent troops today captured Solsona on the road leading northwestward from the Catalan capital and consolidated their positions for the final drive toward the sea.

The lack of spirited resistance at Solsona and elsewhere in the Barcelona area during the insurgent "mile-a-minute" drive of the last few days led Franco to express the hope the city's defenses would crumble entirely, enabling its occupation without sanguinary fighting.

The Generalissimo let it be known that he is anxious to avoid further destruction and loss of civilian life if possible but expressed fears of widespread sabotage by Catalanian anarchists before they surrender their capital.

Three Positions Sought

About 30 persons comprised the American contingent.

Garcia - Valino's Italo - Spanish Maestrazos corps will strike from the Northeast. General Jose Solchaga-Gala's hard-bitten Navarrese will attack from the Northwest and General Juan Yague-Blanco's fierce Moroccans from the South-east.

When that time comes, either the government troops will crumble and allow the insurgents to enter or a desperate stand will be taken on Mt. Tibidabo, the highest hill in Barcelona, marking actual beginning of the civil war's most savage siege.

Insurgent authorities remained confident the former position would prevail and declared the defenders of Barcelona are already "surrendering by the thousands."

Chillicothe's light rate situation Wednesday was similar to that of Circleville.

In Chillicothe a citizens' committee is seeking funds to employ an attorney to fight an injunction action which stopped a referendum move against light rate ordinances. The group plans to employ an outside attorney familiar with referendum litigation and municipal ownership procedure.

There were 1,362 signatures affixed to petitions asking that the rate ordinances be submitted to voters next November. They were filled with the city auditor, but the solicitor held they were invalid because of improper procedure before securing the signatures.

A temporary injunction was approved for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company

Heroine of Tragedy

HEROISM of Mrs. Edna Watson of Montreal, a passenger on the ill-fated flying boat Cavalier, is being retold over and over again as the air and sea drama continues to hold the interest of newspaper readers everywhere. Mrs. Watson saved the life of Capt. M. R. Alderson by holding him up for hours in the water while he was unconscious.

CAPTAIN CLAIMS CAUSE OF LINER CRASH MYSTERY

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — Vague and at times contradictory statements today confronted investigators for the British government attempting to fix the cause for the crash of the Bermuda-bound airliner Cavalier Saturday in the Atlantic with a loss of three lives.

Although the last S. O. S. calls from the failing ship indicated its four giant motors suddenly stalled because of ice conditions, the skipper, Capt. M. R. Alderson, insisted that was not the cause.

"The ice hazard was negligible," said Capt. Alderson, one of the 10 survivors rescued by the Esso Baytown, an oil tanker. "I have flown through much worse weather without mishap. Why all four motors failed, forcing the ship into mountainous seas, is a mystery to me."

Depositions taken from the 10 hardy survivors, now scattered to their homes and hotels, will be introduced at a formal inquiry to be held later in Canada or Bermuda. The present preliminary inquiry was being conducted by Capt. George C. Pirie, air attaché at the British embassy in Washington.

Meanwhile, the number of life preservers available for the passengers was a debated question. Captain Alderson said the survivors clung to nine lifebelts in the seas. Mrs. Edna Watson, one of the survivors, said there were six. A sailor on the rescue ship fixed the number at four.

Bombing Planes Ordered To Relieve Stricken Areas In Chile District

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 25—Unconfirmed reports from Concepcion today hinted at a death toll of at least 2,000 in a violent earthquake which rocked Talca and surrounding territory.

More than 40 percent of all buildings in some districts were levelled, the reports said.

The Chilean war department rushed a fleet of bombing planes to all the affected towns. The pilots were instructed to take steps to establish communications by radio with the devastated areas.

President Pedro Aguirre Cerda took charge personally of a relief expedition which is to be sent to the earthquake zone later in the day.

The tremor apparently centered near Talca, where many buildings, including a prison, collapsed.

According to latest advices, at least five persons were killed in the quake zone and many were injured at Talca and Los Angeles.

Damage was reported as very extensive, but the value of damaged property was not estimated.

All communications with the stricken area were interrupted and there was but little information available immediately. The Chilean government rushed relief workers and supplies to the quake region.

ADMIRAL LEAHY LAUDS PLAN TO PROTECT GUAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The highest-ranking officer in the navy today declared that the complete fortification of Guam would provide "valuable and needed assistance in repelling attack on continental United States, Hawaii and the Panama Canal."

As the first witness before the house naval affairs committee testifying on the proposals to establish 12 new air bases in the Atlantic and Pacific, Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, asserted that fortification of the tiny Pacific outpost also would furnish defense for the Philippines and constitute a "vital link" in this country's commercial relations with the Orient.

But, he said, these were his "personal" recommendations. In keeping with the government's present defense policy, the admiral added, he concurs with the navy department that the present requirements at Guam can be met by "improving" its aviation facilities "primarily" for commercial use.

British Ship Says Capture "Imminent"; Women Go To Trenches

LONDON, Jan. 25—Fall of Barcelona is "imminent," the British cruiser Devonshire, lying off the provisional Spanish government capital, radioed the British admiralty today.

By International News Service
Tightening their three-pronged grip on the beleaguered city of Barcelona, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's insurgent troops today captured Solsona on the road leading northwestward from the Catalan capital and consolidated their positions for the final drive toward the sea.

The lack of spirited resistance at Solsona and elsewhere in the Barcelona area during the insurgent "mile-a-minute" drive of the last few days led Franco to express the hope the city's defenses would crumble entirely, enabling its occupation without sanguinary fighting.

The Generalissimo let it be known that he is anxious to avoid further destruction and loss of civilian life if possible but expressed fears of widespread sabotage by Catalan anarchists before they surrender their capital.

About 30 persons comprised the American contingent.

When that time comes, either the government troops will crumble and allow the insurgents to enter or a desperate stand will be taken on Mt. Tibidabo, the highest hill in Barcelona, marking actual beginning of the civil war's most savage siege.

Insurgent authorities remained confident the former position would prevail and declared the defenders of Barcelona are already "surrendering by the thousands."

CHILLICOTHE, Jan. 25—Four fugitives were back in the U. S. Industrial reformatory here Wednesday after their capture Tuesday near Richmond Dale.

The fugitives, all southerners, were Tommy Hunter, 20, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Oscar Cordle, 20, of Rockingham, N. C.; Wilfred Me-haffey, 21, of Knoxville, and Horace Yonkers, 17, of Raleigh, N. C. They escaped Saturday.

The men had begged for food Monday afternoon at the home of Grant Davis. It was believed they hid later in a gravel pit, but guards were unable to locate them. Tuesday morning the men went to the Davis residence for food. While they were eating Mrs. Davis had a neighbor notify the reformatory.

Guards tracked them from the house and apprehended them without difficulty in a patch of woods. They had a rifle and two large knives. They had traded a shotgun for their breakfast. They admitted the guns and knives were stolen from a nearby cabin. Their clothing was stolen from a Chesapeake & Ohio camp car.

FIVE AWAITING EXECUTION ON MURDER COUNT

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 25—Five condemned youths from New York's teeming East Side scheduled for a mass execution tomorrow night for killing a detective, today clung to fast ebbing hopes that last minute intervention by Gov. Herbert Lehman will spare at least one or two of their number.

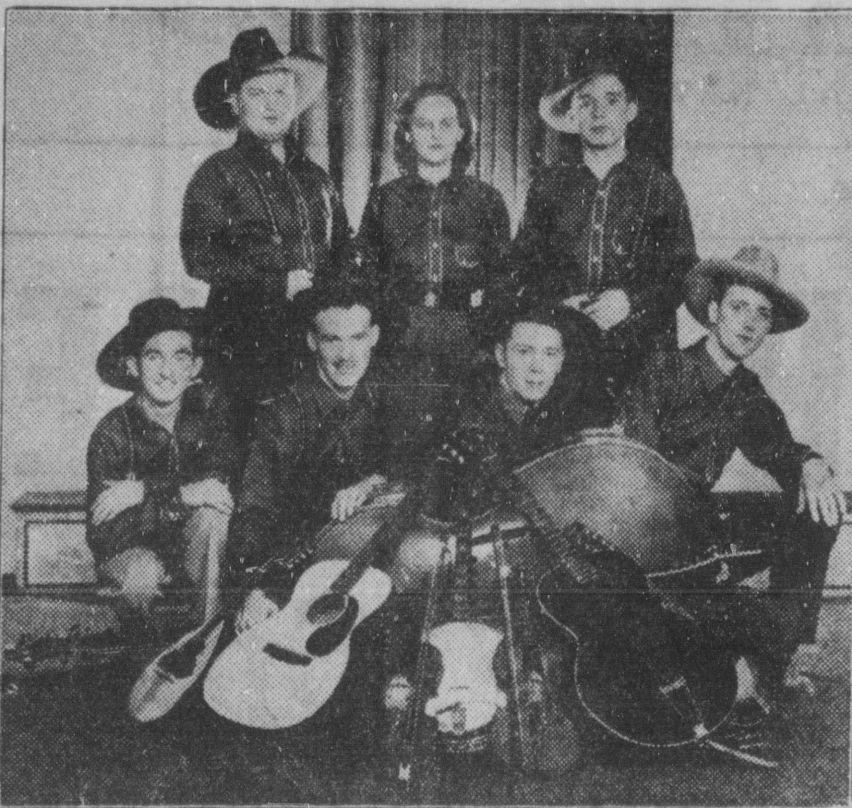

Should the execution of all take place, it will be the largest mass execution at Sing Sing in the last 18 years. In that event, Robert Elliott, the veteran executioner, would receive $750 for his grisly work.

Curiously enough, should Governor Lehman follow precedent, Joseph O'Loughlin, the alleged "trigger man," would be spared from the death chair. Two members of the court of appeals opposed the death penalty for him and it has been customary for the governor to grant clemency where the court was thus divided. The fact that O'Loughlin was branded the "trigger man" may impel the governor to disregard precedent.

Another of the doomed, Philip Chaleff, 27, a diabetic, was being kept alive for execution by insulin injections. He, too, was hopeful of clemency.

The other condemned youths were Dominick Guariglia, 19, Arthur Friedman, 22, and Isidore Zimmerman, 21.

Roundup at the Circle

GLENN HUGHES and his famous 12:30 Roundup Gang, a unit of the Renfro Valley Barn dance, will appear at the new Circle theatre Thursday, Jan. 26, for one day only with matinee and night performances. The screen feature is "Private Number" with Robert Taylor and Loretta Young.

State's Savings High If Dismissals Continue

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—Two and a half weeks after the Republican administration took over the state government from the Democrats a survey of dismissals in all state departments under the Bricker economy program showed today that 2,017 state employees have already lost their jobs.

As nearly as could be calculated at this stage the annual savings thus effected, if the discharged workers are not replaced later, will be $2,818,572.

Wholesale dismissals were in order as soon as Gov. John W. Bricker took office on Jan. 9. While the drive to prune all department and bureau payrolls of "deadwood" has abated somewhat, the governor indicated it has not been completed.

Further dismissals in large numbers seemed assured as soon as the legislature adopts measures to reorganize various departments—"ripper" bills, the Democrats call them—including the unemployment compensation commission.

Highways In Lead

In the recapitulation of payroll piling the heavily staffed highway department led the list both in number of employees lopped off and in the total savings effected. Next came the liquor department. About 1,300 highway department employees have left the payroll and Director Robert G. Beightler estimated the annual savings at $1,500,000. However, when construction is resumed in the Spring many of those jobs may have to be filled.

Beightler carried the Bricker economy program a step farther by cancelling $265,000 in contracts of the Davey administration, asserting that in many instances prices charged the state were excessive.

With an estimated savings of $500,000, the liquor department discontinued the services of about 350 employees of combining some positions and eliminating others. Although operating with a greatly reduced staff and a smaller budget, Director Jacob B. Taylor has promised to increase the efficiency of the liquor department and to tighten up enforcement of the liquor law.

HOPE HAMPTON QUESTIONED IN STRANGE MISHAP

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Hope Hampton, the former screen and opera star, was to be questioned at the district attorney's office today concerning certain puzzling aspects of the accidental shooting of her husband, Jules Brulatour, a millionaire film financier.

Brulatour, recovering at a hospital, has informed police he will surrender the gun to them when he leaves the institution. Previously, he had told them he destroyed the weapon and the bullet which imbedded itself in the nape of his neck.

Police said the bullet was given to Miss Hampton at her request by Dr. Carl Theobald who extracted it. Miss Hampton gave the vial in which it was placed to her husband, according to detectives.

Detectives, agreeing with the explanation of the wealthy Brulatour that the shooting was accidental, said he was cleaning his gun in the library when it was discharged. The bullet tore away the tip of his right ear. Mrs. Hampton was in another part of the luxurious apartment at the time, detectives said.

Authorities were anxious to learn why police were not notified of the shooting until about 36 hours after it occurred and why Brulatour's injury was first described as the result of a fall down the stairs.

Curities division resulted in the dismissal of three assistant examiners and paring of expenses by about $6,000. A temporary savings of $2,000 was effected in the aeronautics bureau when an acting director was placed in charge.

Various estimates set at $15,000 the savings from miscellaneous prunings, such as abolishing the jobs of chauffeurs to the governor, highway director and other state officials. Salary cuts ranging as high as $1,000 are included in the miscellaneous items.

The big question in the capital was, "Will the savings be permanent or will the new administration yield to pressure from the thousands of Republican job-seekers?"

Governor Bricker insists that the dismissals were made because his predecessor loaded the payroll with political friends not necessary to conduct the state's business efficiently. There will be no wholesale replacements, he says.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE BACKS COUNTIANS FOR WORK

A meeting of the Pickaway county Republican Executive committee was held Tuesday night in Probate court.

Purpose of the meeting was to make endorsements for positions under the new state administration. By a vote of the committee it was decided the endorsements would not be announced until appointments were made to various positions.

ROBERT LEIST ARRESTED FOR TWO FORGERIES

Robert Leist, 41, of 146 E. Union street, was bound to the grand jury Tuesday by Mayor W. B. Cady after he pleaded guilty to two charges of forgery. He was committed to the county jail after failure to provide bond of $1,500 on each charge.

Leist is under a Common Pleas court probation granted last June 14 on a forgery charge. He was placed on probation for three years at that time.

Both of Tuesday's charges were filed by Police Chief William McCrady. One check on the First National bank was made payable to Thomas S. Young, Mill and Washington streets, and signed with the name of T. C. McClure. It was for $20. The other, made out on the Circleville Savings & Banking Co., payable to Thomas Young, was for $7 and signed with the name of T. C. McCord. Both checks were endorsed by Mr. Young and cashed at the G. C. Murphy store.

20 CRIMINALS TO TAKE STAND IN TRIAL OF HINES

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Twenty criminals and three "tapped" telephone conversations will be utilized by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey in his second attempt to convict James J. Hines, Tammany leader, on charges of providing protection for Arthur ("Dutch Schultz") Flegenheimer's $20,000,000 numbers racket.

The crusading young prosecutor revealed this much of his hand during yesterday's court session at which seven more jurors, one of whom was later excused, were accepted by Dewey and Paul Striker, counsel for Hines.

As court resumed today, four more jurors and two alternates remained to be chosen and the peremptory challenges of both sides were speedily dwindling. Eight jurors were in the box.

Dewey continually inquired of prospective jurors whether they would accept the word of self-admitted criminals testifying under oath. All those who showed any disinclination to accept such testimony were quickly challenged. Dewey said he had at least 20 such witnesses to call, among them Dixie Davis, Harry Schoenhaus and George Weinberg, his chief ones.

It was while questioning Arthur B. Grant, a telephone employee, that Dewey revealed his plan to introduce the "tapped" telephone calls.

"We will introduce three conversations which occurred four years ago," he said.

"Wire-tapping is all right — in criminal cases," said Grant, whereupon he was summarily dismissed as a prospective juror by Judge C. C. Nott, Jr.

MANY TO ATTEND DINNER PLANNED FOR E.S. NEUDING

A large crowd is expected Thursday night at the dinner in Memorial hall honoring E. S. Neuding, E. Main street grocer, who is prominent in civic and church work. The dinner is sponsored by the United Brethren church choir. The dinner is in celebration of Mr. Neuding's 73rd birthday anniversary and the completion of 59 years in business in Circleville.

The program will consist of music and a series of brief remarks by friends of the honored guest. Reservations are to be made with the Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor of First United Brethren church, the toastmaster for the program.

De Luxe Ford V-8

FORD CARS have always been built to their own high standards of basic quality and performance. This year they also bring style that is new to the low-price field.

Style leader of the line is the De Luxe Ford V-8. Its functional lines express its built-in quality. It is distinctive in appearance because it is distinctive in construction. The hood is deep-crowned to give easy access to the engine. The grille is placed low because the engine, radiator and fan are placed low. Body lines are long and sweeping because of the car's low center of gravity, large luggage compartment and generous inside room.

Appointments carry out in detail the impression of new luxury. Upholstery is fine in quality and workmanship. Passengers find new triple-cushioned riding comfort, as well as new riding quietness.

The 85-horsepower Ford V-8 engine, now proved by over 5 million Ford V-8 owners, is improved this year in smoothness and quietness. Its dependable performance is now linked with smooth hydraulic brakes, rigidly tested to meet Ford standards of safety and dependability.

More than ever before, there's extra pleasure in driving a Ford V-8—and cause for extra pride in owning one!

By S. D. Fridley
Phone Ashville, 79

All told, we have from time to time, mentioned many of our youngsters who have gone out from their "old home town" and have been successful in their chosen life work. We are here naming another one in the person of Stephen Ray Sturgell, son of Sandy and Mrs. Sturgell, Ashville. He was graduated from the local high school in the class of 1929 and concluding he wanted to be a sailor boy and see much of the world, he joined the U. S. Navy.

During the time in this service he was a student in the electrical school and along with this he completed a course in sound motion

FIGHTING NAZISM

AN interesting response in this country to the recent Nazi excesses in Germany is the effort to organize liberal groups of many nationalities against Hitlerism. It is started by the German-American League for Culture, which has headquarters in Chicago, and is expected to sponsor an anti-Nazi drive in various other cities.

Meetings for this purpose have been called in communities with populations having active links with Europe. They are inviting, along with the Germans, Czechs, Slovaks, Swiss, Poles, Yugoslavs, Rumanians, Lithuanians, Danes, Swedes, Norwegians, Finns and others. Mass-meetings are expected for a general protest against Nazi policies on the sixth anniversary of the Hitler regime, late this month.

The new movement has three objects: First, to fight Nazism with an economic boycott; second, to protest against outrages and spread trustworthy information about the European situation; third, to help refugees in escaping from Germany and finding new homes.

Regarding the second and third of these aims there can be no question. But a formal anti-Nazi boycott might alienate many liberal-minded German-Americans whose relatives and friends in Germany would suffer from such action.

MODERATION IN COOPERATING

IT seems there can be intemperance even in town meetings. A resident of the Farm Security Administration's low-rent housing project near Greenbelt, Md., reached his capacity recently and protested. This town operates on a cooperative basis, and so zealous have residents been in promoting good things for the whole community that they have had to spend much time attending meetings to discuss and regulate cooperative stores, playhouses, recreation programs, and so on to considerable length.

The exhausted citizen said that not a week had passed since he moved to the community that he had not been called on to attend some civic meeting aimed at these or other objectives. He proposed that the community set aside at least one week in the year to be known as "stay-at-home week", during which no one in the village would have to go to any meeting whatsoever.

His proposal was adopted unanimously. The idea could well be used in other fields. Many of us need a stay-at-home week for rest from too many activities, worthy and

World At A Glance

Although war experts like Maj. Gen. William C. Rivers, retired, deprecate the proposed American fortification of the western Pacific island of Guam, as a needless provocative gesture in Japan's direction, there evidently is a good bit of sentiment in Washington to the effect that now is a particularly opportune juncture for Uncle Sam to deflate Japan's militarism.

Senator William E. Borah, notably among U. S. lawmakers, agrees with Gen. Rivers. Of course all our pacifistic groups take the same position. For that matter, no civilized person dissents from the proposition that the United States should be very hesitant to aggravate Nippon unnecessarily.

However, there are others (not of the firebrand class, either) who argue that the present situation affords a heaven-sent chance to prevent Japanese-Yankee hostilities in the future. Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn is one of these, and perhaps he knows as much about oceanic and insular conditions as Gen. Rivers does. And the admiral also has supporters on Capitol Hill, as well as the general.

RIGHT IN JAPAN'S DOORYARD

Now, Guam and Wake Island (our strategists want a formidable naval base on Wake likewise) are right in Japan's dooryard.

Gen. River's reasoning is that,

VERMONT'S STATES' RIGHTS BATTLE

WASHINGTON—The fight of Vermont's Governor George D. Aiken against the federal flood control policy was a ten-strike from every G. O. P. viewpoint. The plight of little Vermont pitted against the powerful minions of the National Government brought sympathy from thousands, was a definite setback for an important New Deal program.

But what never leaked out was that the Aiken drama had behind it the unseen master mind of the Republican National Committee. Leo Casey, former publicity director of the Committee, who more recently handled Tom Dewey's campaign in New York, was rushed to Montpelier and did the job for Governor Aiken.

Casey, who is the best man the G. O. P. has employed in many a year, prepared Aiken's speeches and press releases, set the time of Aiken's speech to the legislature, invited a number of metropolitan political writers to Vermont and promised them some fireworks. Because of his astute handling, the promised fireworks went off.

YANKEE BUDGET

But in all the excitement, plus the glamour of his national publicity, Aiken found himself in a bad spot at home. The Governor was so busy staging his fight against federal flood control that he incorrectly informed his legislature Vermont's balance at the end of the biennium, June 30, 1941, would be $635,000.

This was just about a million dollars off base. Instead, the State will have a deficit of around $500,000. So Aiken had to send another message to the legislature together with a "correction sheet" showing that he had made a mistake of over a million dollars in Vermont's tiny 20-million biennial budget.

Newspapermen covering the State House said that the Governor was working so hard with Leo Casey in his fight against Washington that he didn't even read over the budget before submitting it.

NOTE—Democratic Congressmen were wrong when they said Aiken was the tool of the power trust. He has been a consistent opponent of the big utilities, was merely playing politics in this affair. Vermont Democrats call $67,000 voted by the legislature to fight the Federal Government on flood control "The Aiken for President Fund."

FELIX FRANKFURTER

Before a Senate Committee had passed on him unanimously for the Supreme Court, Felix Frankfurter sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

"Marion (Mrs. Frankfurter) hopes that I'll be on the Senate griddle for two weeks so she can find out the real truth about me."

To this Roosevelt wired back: "Maybe you're one of the missing Musica brothers."

unworthy. A little solitude and meditation now and then would make the committee meetings, public lectures, conferences and all the rest more valuable.

DIET AND HEALTH

Best Skin Doctors Are Light and Air

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A VERY LARGE part of my correspondence from readers concerns inquiries about the skin. Young people especially are tortured by acne or pimples. Others ask perennially about psoriasis. I wish I could answer these questions more satisfactorily. Some cases are easy to clear up, but the stubborn ones are very difficult.

With any skin, however, there are some simple rules of hygiene and diet which do much to keep a clear, glowing appearance.

Light and air are the best skin doctors. Some modern ladies keep their faces so constantly covered with paint and powder that the skin never has a chance to breathe. The whole skin should regularly be exposed to light and especially to air. And it needs more attention these winter days than in the summer.

Necessary food constituents go to nourish the skin from within. The skin can be cleaned externally by a bath but it needs an internal bath also and certain foods are recognized for their nourishing effect on the skin.

Eat Onions

The onion is highly praised by experts on this account. Huggable, and often despised, it is within reach of all. It is rich in sulphur, which the old wives think is a good skin food, as witness the sulphur and molasses tonic. We are getting near the spring tonic season and it is just as well to anticipate it.

Not only sulphur, but iron is an important skin tonic. The foods which contain sulphur and iron are onions, sprouts, cabbage, celery, beetroot, radishes, endive, cauliflower and red cabbage. They are all best eaten raw.

The following are rich in iron: Watercress, spinach, prunes, raisins, dried apricots, parsley, olives.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

dandelion leaves and roots, and all dark green vegetables.

Spinach has been praised extravagantly and with justice. It is a valuable tonic to the blood and skin. The simplest method of cooking is the best. After many rinsings to rid the leaves of grit and insect matter, simmer them slowly in their own juice for about ten minutes so that none of the value is lost in cooking. Turnip tops have the same virtues, and are cheaper.

Also—Carrots

Raw tomatoes and carrots are also good skin tonics. Carrots should not be peeled, because the skin contains a large percentage of Vitamin B. Carrots are valuable in cases of constipation.

Hints on Etiquette

A point on which there may be a difference of opinion when playing bridge is whether the dealer deals again if the four players pass. It is correct so to do in progressive bridge, but not where rubbers are being played.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today, you may expect the year to bring success in business. At the same time your love affairs may be complicated. A stranger to you now may help you. Children born today will be clever. They also may be too

Nuts are also valuable foods for the whole body as well as the skin. Their great food value is not often recognized and they should not be left out of a well balanced diet.

Water should be drunk freely between meals by the potential skin invalid. Fruit juices are of the utmost importance in the beauty diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. F. B.: "Please recommend a good book to give a child to explain the facts of life."

Answer: Step by Step in Sex Education by Ethel Hale Swift (The Macmillan Company, 1938). Of all the books of the kind this seems to me the best to recommend to a child.

J. W. H.: "You have stated that phrenology is a bunk science. What about physiognomy?"

Answer: I quote from the interesting book by August A. Thoren, Don't Believe It, as follows: In 1924 G. U. Cleaton and F. B. Knight conducted a series of detailed experiments to ascertain the validity of this notion (Journal Applied Psychology, June, 1924). They had uniform photographs made of ten college students whose mental capacities and abilities were definitely known. These photographs were given to 376 persons who were requested to arrange them in accordance with their estimates of the subject's intelligence. The conclusions arrived at by Cleaton and Knight were as follows: (1) The persons making the selections could have done just as well with their eyes closed as open. (2) Any successful selections were merely a matter of luck because those who did well on one set of ten did poorly on the next. (3) Women were no more efficient than men. (4) Older persons were no more efficient than the young. (5) The more intelligent showed no more ability than the less intelligent. (6) There was a slight tendency for both men and women to overestimate the intelligence of women from their photographs. (7) When the pictures are not uniform one's ability in such estimates is lessened. (8) In judging two pictures, as in judging ten, one might as well close the eyes. (9) A group of judges working together did no better than a single judge. (10) One professional character reader and vocational expert did no better than the average of the 376 persons who arranged the pictures."

"Well, that's the last of them!" Ellis said when she had gone. He wiped his perspiring brow. "What about the servants?" Phil reminded him. "Give me a breathing spell, man! I'll get to the help before long. And I hope to Heaven they talk more than their masters!"

"How can people talk when you don't ask them anything?" I fired at him. "Now, Elsie—" spoke up Mac. "You, too!" I dared. "You do nothing but talk in riddles!" "Riddles have answers." "Pooh!" I was too tired to think up a wise-crack. "Pooh!" He said slowly: "Elsie could show

DEATH AT THE MANOR

BY M. E. CORNE

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR
MISS HENRIETTA WILLOUGHSTON crept into the inquiring room.

"I've been waiting and waiting," she whispered, advancing with outstretched arms. "Waiting and waiting!"

"I'm sorry you had to wait!" In the sudden hush that came upon us, Ellis' tone was like a giant explosion. "What was it you wanted?"

"Sh! She wheeled about and tiptoed to the door. 'They're spying on me,' she said softly and cocked her head in a listening attitude.

"Who?" The chief looked uneasy. "Who's spying?"

"Sh!" she hissed again. "They know I know!"

"They do? Who?"

She nodded. Her eyes were awful. They glittered. "I can't tell you! You can't make me tell!"

"What is this?" Ellis sent a silent S. O. S. to McIntyre. The Chicago detective gazed serenely at the ceiling.

"Any questions, McIntyre?" Ellis shot at him.

"I think not," Mac shook his head.

"Do you know?" demanded Miss Henrietta, turning to him. "Do you?"

"Perhaps."

"Someone told you!" she screamed accusingly, and moved closer to him.

"No," Mac denied. "I guessed."

She cackled gleefully. "Guessed! You could never guess! Not in a million years!"

"Someone is in great danger!" He spoke lowly and stared intently into her eyes.

"Danger!" The laughter closed in her throat. She looked frightened. She whimpered: "No!"

"Yes," He rose and towered above her. "There will be blood spilled—"

For a second I thought a miracle was going to take place! The madness left the old lady's eyes. Sanity, bright and clear, shone from them. I leaned forward, gripping the sides of my chair. Then, quickly, as it had come, the brightness faded.

"Vengeance is mine!" she croaked. "So sayeth our Lord! The wages of sin is death!"

"Her death?" asked Mac. "Hers, too?"

But Miss Henrietta was no longer capable of reason. Her lips moved ceaselessly, saying nothing. She was praying as she left the room.

"Well, that's the last of them!" Ellis said when she had gone. He wiped his perspiring brow.

"What about the servants?" Phil reminded him.

"Give me a breathing spell, man! I'll get to the help before long. And I hope to Heaven they talk more than their masters!"

"How can people talk when you don't ask them anything?" I fired at him.

"Now, Elsie—" spoke up Mac. "You, too!" I dared. "You do nothing but talk in riddles!"

you something that has an answer. But you wouldn't like it.

"Try me!"

He repeated: "You wouldn't like it!"

"I can take it!" I assured him flippantly.

"You've found something?" Phil was eager.

"Yes," Ellis' hand emerged, like a study in slow motion, from his pocket. His fingers were wrapped about a crumpled sheet of yellow paper.

"Let Elsie read it," Mac said, and I smoothed the paper upon the table. It was a Western Union telegraph form, and it was filled in in pencil.

"Well!" urged Phil.

"Read it, Elsie!"

"Read it aloud!" Phil was impatient. "Don't stand there like a dummy!"

"Yes, I'll read it," I said, and even to myself my voice sounded queer and strained:

"Lawrence, Ohio, March 3, 1937. B. B. Beeman, Park Hotel, Columbus, Ohio. Will have money sure end of week—do nothing until you hear from me—"

I broke off. There was a lump in my throat that was the size of a walnut.

Phil nudged my elbow. "Go on! Who sent it?"

But I couldn't go on. There was a buzzing in my brain.

"Catch her, Benson!" Mac was shouting. Strong arms supported me.

"Snap out of it, baby!" Phil was shaking me. I stared up at him. He seemed a thousand miles away. Then the buzzing stopped.

"All right, now," I murmured. The telegram dangled limply from my nervous fingers. It fluttered to the floor. Phil made a dive for it.

"So!" he exclaimed, and at his note of jubilation my heart turned over in my breast. "Young Richard, sent for his sister!"

Mac nodded. "That's it."

Richard, Richard Witherspoon! The familiar sickening sensation attacked the pit of my stomach. "It can't be true!" I protested weakly.

"You don't want to defend a murderer, do you?" demanded Phil. His face was pale and moist with excitement. I turned from him, unable to conceal my distaste. What did he care, I thought, with bitterness? What did he care that Richard was young and headstrong and in trouble? What did he care for anything except to have his name in the papers beneath a story headed:

MURDERER ARRESTED!

"Leave the girl alone!" snapped Mac. "Can't you see she's all in?"

"All in?" Phil's astonishment was genuine. His eyes opened widely. He grinned, that little-boy grin of his, and dropped down at my feet. "Sorry, Elsie," he said huskily. "I guess I seem pretty heartless to you. The kid'll have a chance to prove his innocence. Don't you worry."

"He isn't guilty!" I insisted, but my doubt must have been evident, for he patted my knee several times and squeezed my hand tightly.

"Who is this Beeman, Mac?" he asked after a while.

Ellis interrupted by clearing his throat loudly. "Beeman," he explained, carefully looking over my head, "is known in certain circles as 'Fifty Per Cent B.' He is one of the crookedest money lenders in this part of the country."

Phil whistled. "I get it! Richard owed him money! And on the day of his mother's death he wires that he can pay—"

"Don't!" I laid my hands on his lips. "Don't say it!"

A DAY OF rather drastic action may be looked for, according to the lively lunar and mutual aspects. Things may be pitched at high tension, with tendencies toward reckless, aggressive and impulsive actions, which may result in a web of entanglements, plots or schemes difficult to maneuver. It will take some cleverness and ingenuity to cope with deceptive situations or treacherous friends.

Those whose birthday it is may have an extremely lively and active year, with affairs moving at concert pitch. While there may be some encouraging results, there is the menace of entanglements, intrigues of fraudulent connections which may call for much skill and integrity to sidestep. Treachery of some friends may be offset by the aid of an elderly person.

A child born on this day will be enterprising, aggressive and have much constructive ability, but it may be disposed to expediency and strategem rather than forthright ways of attaining its objectives.

It is started by the German-American League for Culture, which has headquarters in Chicago, and is expected to sponsor an anti-Nazi drive in various other cities.

Meetings for this purpose have been called in communities with populations having active links with Europe. They are inviting, along with the Germans, Czechs, Slovaks, Swiss, Poles, Yugoslavs, Rumanians, Lithuanians, Danes, Swedes, Norwegians, Finns and others. Mass-meetings are expected for a general protest against Nazi policies on the sixth anniversary of the Hitler regime, late this month.

The new movement has three objects: First, to fight Nazism with an economic boycott; second, to protest against outrages and spread trustworthy information about the European situation; third, to help refugees in escaping from Germany and finding new homes.

Regarding the second and third of these aims there can be no question. But a formal anti-Nazi boycott might alienate many liberal-minded German-Americans whose relatives and friends in Germany would suffer from such action.

MODERATION IN COOPERATING

IT seems there can be intemperance even in town meetings. A resident of the Farm Security Administration's low-rent housing project near Greenbelt, Md., reached his capacity recently and protested. This town operates on a cooperative basis, and so zealous have residents been in promoting good things for the whole community that they have had to spend much time attending meetings to discuss and regulate cooperative stores, playhouses, recreation programs, and so on to considerable length.

The exhausted citizen said that not a week had passed since he moved to the community that he had not been called on to attend some civic meeting aimed at these or other objectives. He proposed that the community set aside at least one week in the year to be known as "stay-at-home week", during which no one in the village would have to go to any meeting whatsoever.

His proposal was adopted unanimously. The idea could well be used in other fields. Many of us need a stay-at-home week for rest from too many activities, worthy and

World At A Glance

Although war experts like Maj. Gen. William C. Rivers, retired, deprecate the proposed American fortification of the western Pacific island of Guam, as a needless provocative gesture in Japan's direction, there evidently is a good bit of sentiment in Washington to the effect that now is a particularly opportune juncture for Uncle Sam to deflate Japan's militarists.

Senator William E. Borah, notably among U. S. lawmakers, agrees with Gen. Rivers. Of course all our pacifist groups take the same position. For that matter, no civilized person dissents from the proposition that the United States should be very hesitant to aggravate Nippon unnecessarily.

However, there are others (not of the firebrand class, either) who argue that the present situation affords a heaven-sent chance to prevent Japanese-Yankee hostilities in the future. Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn is one of these, and perhaps he knows as much about oceanic and insular conditions as Gen. Rivers does. And the admiral also has supporters on Capitol Hill, as well as the general.

RIGHT IN JAPAN'S DOORYARD
Now, Guam and Wake Island (our strategists want a formidable naval base on Wake like-wise) are right in Japan's dooryard.

Gen. Rivers' reasoning is that,

VERMONT'S STATES' RIGHTS BATTLE

WASHINGTON—The fight of Vermont's Governor George D. Aiken against the federal flood control policy was a ten-strike from every G. O. P. viewpoint. The plight of little Vermont pitted against the powerful minions of the National Government brought sympathy from thousands, was a definite setback for an important New Deal program.

But what never leaked out was that the Aiken drama had behind it the unseen master mind of the Republican National Committee. Leo Casey, former publicity director of the Committee, who more recently handled Tom Dewey's campaign in New York, was rushed to Montpelier and did the job for Governor Aiken.

Casey, who is the best man the G. O. P. has employed in many a year, prepared Aiken's speeches and press releases, set the time of Aiken's speech to the legislature, invited a number of metropolitan political writers to Vermont and promised them some fireworks. Because of his astute handling, the promised fireworks went off.

YANKEE BUDGET

But in all the excitement, plus the glamour of his national publicity, Aiken found himself in a bad spot at home. The Governor was so busy staging his fight against federal flood control that he incorrectly informed his legislature Vermont's balance at the end of the biennium, June 30, 1941, would be $635,000.

This was just about a million dollars off base. Instead, the State will have a deficit of around $500,000. So Aiken had to send another message to the legislature together with a "correction sheet" showing that he had made a mistake of over a million dollars in Vermont's tiny 20-million biennial budget.

Newspapermen covering the State House said that the Governor was working so hard with Leo Casey in his fight against Washington that he didn't even read over the budget before submitting it.

NOTE—Democratic Congressmen were wrong when they said Aiken was the tool of the power trust. He has been a consistent opponent of the big utilities, was merely playing politics in this affair. Vermont Democrats call $67,000 voted by the legislature to fight the Federal Government on flood control "The Aiken for President Fund."

FELIX FRANKFURTER

Before a Senate Committee had passed on him unanimously for the Supreme Court, Felix Frankfurter sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt: "Marion (Mrs. Frankfurter) hopes that I'll be on the Senate griddle for two weeks so she can find out the real truth about me."

To this Roosevelt wired back: "Maybe you're one of the missing Musica brothers."

unworthy. A little solitude and meditation now and then would make the committee meetings, public lectures, conferences and all the rest more valuable.

If some potentially hostile power were to undertake to intrench itself virtually in our home waters (say on some Caribbean key or off the Lower Californian coast), we wouldn't stand it for a minute.

He is correct, certainly. We would not.

Nor would I deny that Japan has not a talking point even as to this issue. The Japanese, we think, are trying to gobble China. They dispute it, but they agree that unquestionably we are trying to monopolize Latin America. They maintain that it comes with a mighty poor grace from us to find fault with their claims on the Asiatic mainland.

Anyhow, Tokyo assuredly is trying to trim American commercial rights in China down to zero. British and French rights ditto. And Belgian and Dutch and Scandinavian rights—but these countries are too trifling to signify.

The U. S. A. protested, as was to have been expected, as was Britain kept quiet for a while, but today it is joining Washington in its opposition to the Japanese acquisition program. France is developing the same symptoms.

A FREE HAND IN CHINA
Japan's notion has been that it could have a pretty free hand in China.

That coast is a Dickens of a long way off from California and even from Hawaii. Our navy men have recognized for years that the

DIET AND HEALTH

Best Skin Doctors Are Light and Air

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A VERY LARGE part of my correspondence from readers concerns inquiries about the skin. Young people especially are tortured by acne or pimples. Others ask perennially about psoriasis. I wish I could answer these questions more satisfactorily. Some cases are easy to clear up, but the stubborn ones are very difficult.

With any skin, however, there are some simple rules of hygiene and diet which do much to keep a clear, glowing appearance.

Light and air are the best skin doctors. Some modern ladies keep their faces so constantly covered with paint and powder that the skin never has a chance to breathe. The whole skin should regularly be exposed to light and especially to air. And it needs more attention these winter days than in the summer.

Necessary food constituents go to nourish the skin from within. The skin can be cleaned externally by a bath but it needs an internal bath also and certain foods are recognized for their nourishing effect on the skin.

Eat Onions

The onion is highly praised by experts on this account. Huggable, and often despised, it is within reach of all. It is rich in sulphur, which the old wives think is a good skin food, as witness the sulphur and molasses tonic. We are getting near the spring tonic season and it is just as well to anticipate it.

Not only sulphur, but iron is an important skin tonic. The foods which contain sulphur and iron are onions, sprouts, cabbage, celery, beetroot, radishes, endive, cauliflower and red cabbage. They are all best eaten raw.

The following are rich in iron: Watercress, spinach, prunes, raisins, dried apricots, parsley, olives.

dandelion leaves and roots, and all dark green vegetables.

Spinach has been praised extravagantly and with justice. It is a valuable tonic to the blood and skin. The simplest method of cooking is the best. After many rinsings to rid the leaves of grit and insect matter, simmer them slowly in their own juice for about ten minutes so that none of the value is lost in cooking. Turnip tops have the same virtues, and are cheaper.

Also—Carrots

Raw tomatoes and carrots are also good skin tonics. Carrots should not be peeled, because the skin contains a large percentage of Vitamin B. Carrots are valuable in cases of constipation.

DEATH AT THE MANOR
BY M. E. CORNE

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

MISS HENRIETTA WILLOUGHSTON crept into the sleeping room.

"I've been waiting and waiting," she whispered, advancing with outstretched arms. "Waiting and waiting!"

"I'm sorry you had to wait!" In the sudden hush that came upon us, Ellis' tone was like a giant explosion. "What was it you wanted?"

"She wheeled about and tipped to the door. 'They're spying on me,' she said softly and cocked her head in a listening attitude.

"Who?" The chief looked uneasy. "Who's spying?"

"She!" she hissed again. "They know I know!"

"They do? Who?"

"She nodded. Her eyes were awful. They glittered. 'I can't tell you! You can't make me tell!'

"What is this?" Ellis sent a silent S. O. S. to McIntyre. The Chicago detective gazed serenely at the ceiling.

"Any questions, McIntyre?" Ellis shot at him.

"I think not." Mac shook his head.

"Do you know?" demanded Miss Henrietta, turning to him. "Do you?"

"Perhaps."

"Some one told you!" she screamed accusingly, and moved closer to him.

"No," Mac denied, "I guessed."

She cackled gleefully. "Guessed! You could never guess! Not in a million years!"

"Someone is in great danger!" He spoke lowly and stared intently into her eyes.

"Danger!" The laughter closed in her throat. She looked frightened. She whimpered: "No!"

"Yes," He rose and towered above her. "There will be blood spilled!"

For a second I thought a miracle was going to take place! The madness left the old lady's eyes. Sanity, bright and clear, shone from them. I leaned forward, gripping the sides of my chair. Then, quickly, as it had come, the brightness faded.

"Vengeance is mine!" she croaked. "So sayeth our Lord! The wages of sin is death!"

"Her death?" asked Mac. "Hers, too?"

But Miss Henrietta was no longer capable of reason. Her lips moved ceaselessly, saying nothing. She was praying as she left the room.

"Well, that's the last of them!" Ellis said when she had gone. He wiped his perspiring brow.

"What about the servants?" Phil reminded him.

"Give me a breathing spell, man! I'll get to the help before long. And I hope to Heaven they talk more than their masters!"

"How can people talk when you don't ask them anything?" I fired at him.

"Now, Elsie—" spoke up Mac.

"You, too!" I flared. "You do nothing but talk in riddles!"

"Riddles have answers."

"Pooh!" I was too tired to think up a wise-crack. "Pooh!"

He said slowly: "Ellis could show

you something that has an answer. But you wouldn't like it.

"Try me!"

He repeated: "You wouldn't like it!"

"I can take it!" I assured him flippantly.

"You've found something?" Phil was eager.

"Yes," Ellis' hand emerged, like a study in slow motion, from his pocket. His fingers were wrapped about a crumpled sheet of yellow paper.

"Let Elsie read it," Mac said, and I smoothed the paper upon the table. It was a Western Union telegraph form, and it was filled in in pencil.

"Well!" urged Phil.

"Read it, Elsie!"

"Read it aloud!" Phil was impatient. "Don't stand there like a dummy!"

"Yes, I'll read it," I said, and even to myself my voice sounded queer and strained:

"Lawnville, Ohio, March 3, 1937. B. B. Beeman, Park Hotel, Columbus, Ohio. Will have money sure end of week—do nothing until you hear from me—"

I broke off. There was a lump in my throat that was the size of a walnut.

Phil nudged my elbow. "Go on! Who sent it?"

But I couldn't go on. There was a buzzing in my brain.

"Catch her, Benson!" Mac was shouting. Strong arms supported me.

"Snap out of it, baby!" Phil was shaking me. I stared up at him. He seemed a thousand miles away. Then the buzzing stopped.

"All right, now," I murmured. The telegram dangled limply from my nervous fingers. It fluttered to the floor. Phil made a dive for it.

"So!" he exclaimed, and at his note of jubilation my heart turned over in my breast. "Young Richard,

STARS SAY—

For Wednesday, January 25

A DAY of rather drastic action may be looked for, according to the lively lunar and mutual aspects. Things may be pitched at high tension, with tendencies toward reckless, aggressive and impulsive actions, which may result in a web of entanglements, plots or schemes difficult to maneuver. It will take some cleverness and ingenuity to cope with deceptive situations or treacherous friends.

Those whose birthday it is may have an extremely lively and active year, with affairs moving at concert pitch. While there may be some encouraging results, there is the menace of entanglements, intrigues of fraudulent connections which may call for much skill and integrity to sidestep. Treachery of some friends may be offset by the aid of an elderly person.

A child born on this day will be enterprising, aggressive and have much constructive ability, but it may be disposed to expediency and strategem rather than forthright ways of attaining its objectives.

The girls are studying the circulation of the blood. They have just finished studying the muscles, the skeleton, and other important parts of the body.

The Walnut township school orchestra played at Ashville for the Community Institute, held Jan. 18. They played in the morning and in the afternoon. The conductor of the orchestra was Miss Winifred Roudabush, the music instructor at Walnut.

First semester is over and the measuring finished, some disappointments were felt over the first half of the years work. It is hard for some students to realize that "there is no excellence without great labor."

Some would be willing to be at the head of the class if it were not for the effort needed to get there. Some unfortunately do not care life is just one sweet song and nothing to worry about. Most pupils, however, are serious-minded and willing to put forth a great deal of effort to do their work in a commendable manner. These are the rule rather than the exception. Everyone likes another chance. The beginning of a new period offers us this chance; all pupils should accept it as a challenge to do better than they did the first semester. If we all will do our part it will not be necessary for the teachers to have to write failure at the end of the year for any of us. After all, we make the record and the teacher has to write it on the books, so let's try our best to make it good.

In various schools entertainment consists of games of a varying nature and is offered to occupy the time of the students during the noon hour. Dancing, games, reading rooms and other forms of recreation are in vogue in the country. In our school we have ping pong and basket ball practice for the main noon-hour activities. Since there is a large number of pupils it is some what of a problem for all to get an opportunity to play but we do pretty well and so far everyone seems to find something to do.

ODDS GO AS HIGH AS 8 TO 1 ON JOE LOUIS TO RETAIN HEAVY TITLE

ADVANTAGE OF MANY POUNDS TO BE CHAMP'S

John Henry's Only Chance Is Based On Ability To Stay Distance

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Approximately $100,000 worth of cash customers will roar again tonight in Madison Square Garden, and possibly they will be heralding the crowning of a new world heavyweight champion, but more likely the chorused hollering will indicate that J. Barrow Louis has got his man, and that attendants can scrape up J. Henry Lewis and cart him away.

Louis, the champion, expecting to scale 201 pounds, and the challenger, at about 183, left their suburban camps today and motored to New York for weighing in ceremonies before the boxing commission surrounded by all the hoopla and excitement and kibitzing which customarily accompanies these proceedings.

Betting odds fluctuated between 6 and 8 to 1 on the ominously morose, sepia-toned champion to retain his pugilistic empire against the slightly darker hued challenger, and it was even money on a knockout inside of five rounds. But there was virtually no wagering. If the title should change gloved hands by some miracle, it will be one of the biggest upsets in boxing history, and the perpetration thereof will come about in the first all-Negro heavyweight championship fight ever held in America.

Lewis Seeks Decision

It generally was agreed today—with J. Henry adding to the note of unanimity—that his lone chance rests on his staying the scheduled 15 rounds and winning the decision. That would be a major surprise. If he should score a knockout the thing will be nothing less than a nice, neat little catastrophe visited on the assembled experts. John Henry, a game fellow and a thoroughly competent workman among light heavyweights over whom he rules as champion everywhere except in New York state, is pinning all his hopes on his boxing ability and whatever speed he may be able to muster. The trouble is he has fattened up in last couple of years for heavyweight engagements and has, therefore, sacrificed some of his fast stepping. He never was much of a puncher.

On his side then is experience gained in 99 fights—this being his 10th—thorough seasoning, some speed, boxing finesse that is thrilling to watch, a fine left hand and unlimited courage. He has never been knocked out and has been floored in only two bouts.

The champion, in comparison, is a good boxer himself, and, although slower footed with his scuffling, probably as fast with his hands as any heavyweight that ever lived, and almost literally a killer with his punches. He can't take a punch to the head too well, but probably won't have to tonight. He has so much all around class that I can't see how he can possibly miss.

For one thing he will have a physical advantage in height, reach and weight. As for age, they both will be 25 in May. Compared with Lewis' 100 fights dating over nearly a decade, the champion tonight enters his 41st, but this disparity in experience probably isn't significant.

The one thing against Louis' chances is a seven months' layoff since his last bout, when he stayed in Max Schmeling's side and sent him to the hospital. Moreover, in the last two years he has fought 48 rounds in eight bouts, contrasted with 252 rounds in 31 bouts in the same period engaged in by the challenger. This may be important before the evening is over, but it shouldn't be.

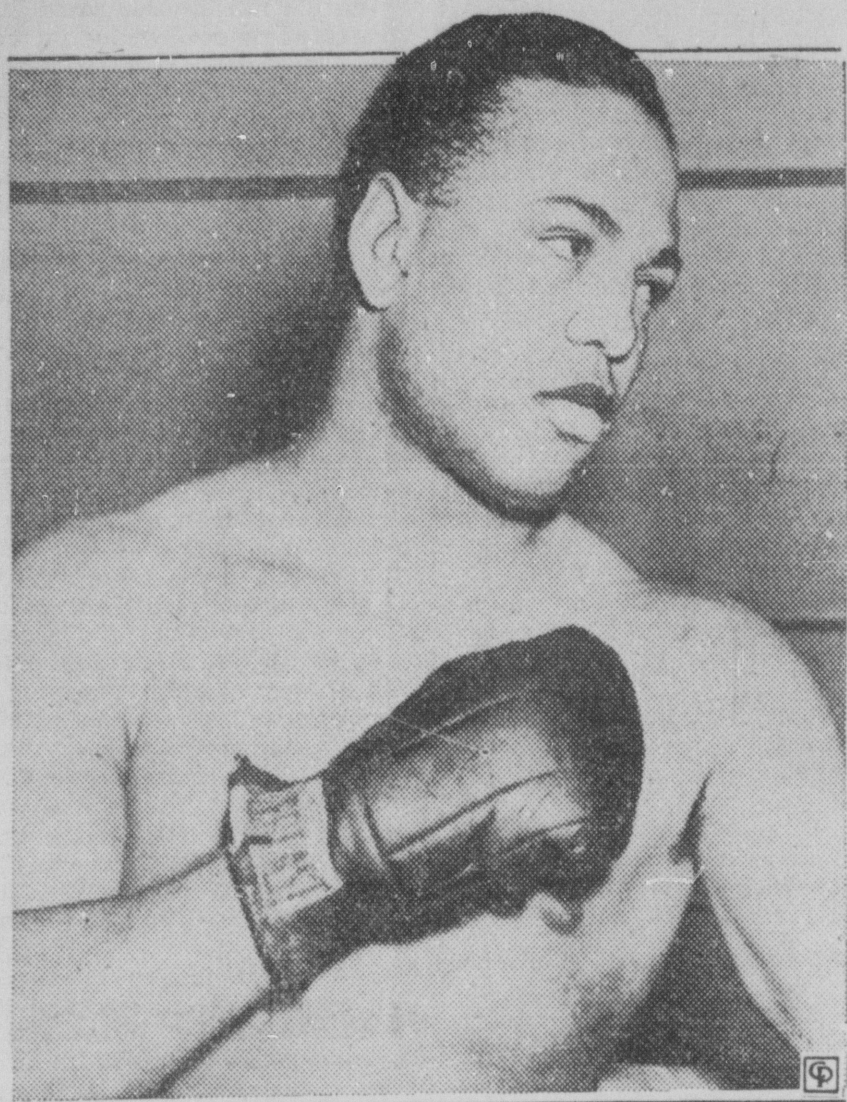

John Henry can't win unless he gets close enough to land his fists and anytime he gets that close he lays himself wide open to a brain-scrambling punch. Sooner or later he probably will be smashed into unconsciousness.

Sentiment Out

There is considerable discussion over the fact that the champion and challenger are friends outside the ring and that, therefore, Louis probably will be inclined to take it easy. I don't know about that. However, if Louis lets sentiment enter into anything so valuable as his heavyweight title, which has earned him $1,250,000 so far, he is a bigger sucker than his very smart handlers have ever let him appear to be. He may not be able to work up the homicidal rage he showed against Schmeling, whom he bled J. Henry open at the he despised, but he still figures seams.

The latter's expressed battle cry is, "I won't run away; I'll box for a few rounds, then fight it out," and that probably is his requiem. By boxing he may elude the inevitable for the time being; by slugging he will get himself

Can Lewis Whip Louis?

IT PROMISES to be a tough night for radio announcers tonight when Joe Louis defends his world's heavyweight title against Light Heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis. Here's John Henry.

Sisler, Eddie Collins, Keeler In Fame's Hall

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—George Sisler, Eddie Collins and Wee Willie Keeler today join those other immortals—Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Cy Young, Tris Speaker, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Grover Alexander and Nap Lajoie—in the baseball hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The sports writers of the country cast 274 votes and of the three-fourths necessary to elect, Sisler received 235, Collins 213, and Keeler, 207. The writers named 108 players on their ballots.

It is true that there are others worthy of a place in the hall of fame, but surely no fault can be found with the choices thus far made.

Sisler was without doubt one of the greatest first basemen who ever lived. Many rank him on top. His lifetime batting average from 1915 to 1930 was .341. One year he hit an unbelievable .420 and another season .407, two marks the boys are still sniping at in vain. He still holds the American league record for hitting safely in 41 consecutive games and he was the first man to receive his league's "most valuable player award."

Lajoie or Collins?

It is a moot question whether Nap Lajoie or Eddie Collins was the greatest second baseman of all time. In any event, it is certain both were good enough, and now with both in the hall of fame their adherents should be satisfied.

Collins enjoyed one of the greatest major league careers on record with the Athletics and White Sox from 1906 to 1929 and over that stretch of years, he proved his class as a hitter, fielder, and base stealer. He was the brains of Connie Mack's famous infield that also carried Stuffy McInnis, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker as charter members. Incidentally, he played in six World's series and in three of them he hit more than 400.

Keeler, of course, was the author of the famous line giving the secret of successful hitting. "Hit 'em where they ain't," said the man who is generally rated the greatest hunter and place hitter of all time.

Keeler played with John McGraw, Wilbert Robinson and Hughie Jennings on the famous Baltimore Orioles, a team that originated smart inside baseball as we know it today.

Wee Willie was not only one of the game's best hitters but, old timers assure us, no better outfielder ever played. He hit more than .300 for 14 years, was National league champion in '97 and smeared all over the canvas, bringing about therewith the expected finish.

This will be Louis' fourth fight in Madison Square Garden and for the fourth time he may draw $100,000 or more as Promoter Mike Jacobs predicts, although more conservative estimates place the probable gate at about $80,000. The house is scaled to a maximum of $120,000, with the top price tickets at $16.50.

Is Fifth Defense

Also it will be the champion's fifth defense of the crown he won from Jim Braddock by a knockout at Chicago in June of 1937. He kept it by outpointing Tommy Farr and knocking out Nathan Mann, Harry Thomas and Max Schmeling, to clinch his position as the busiest heavyweight champion the ring has known.

That he will continue to reign seems ordained. In fact, he ought to be able to win whenever he chooses. It looks that easy.

RED AND BLACK TEAM TANGLES WITH HILLSBORO

Indians To Be Met On Foreign Court; Drills Stress Offensive

Circleville high school cagers step out in fast company Friday evening when they travel to Hillsboro to meet the mighty Indians of that city. Hillsboro's well-balanced cage team is recognized generally as one of southern Ohio's best.

The Red and Black crew, fresh from consecutive victories over Waverly, McArthur and Clarksburg, is drilling this week on bucket shooting, Coach Roy Black bending every effort to outscore the favored Hillsboro lads. Several deficiencies that bobbed up in the Clarksburg game are being ironed out, especially on defense. Coach Black believes the 34 points his boys scored against Clarksburg will be enough to win, but he is striving diligently for a stronger defense to combat the hot shooting Indians.

Hillsboro's scoring has been evenly divided all year, Willets, Stainforth and Lamb carrying the brunt of the attack.

Circleville school authorities have not gained any information concerning who the officials will be.

Reserves Also Play

The reserve teams of the two schools will play a preliminary. The Tiger squad expects to leave Circleville immediately after school is out Friday afternoon.

Reserve squad and freshman will get into action this week with the first activity scheduled Wednesday evening. The reserves will play Walnut township varsity at Walnut and the Circleville freshman team will take on the Walnut reserves. On Saturday evening, the freshmen, handled by Assistant Coach Tom Armstrong, will go to Ashville to play the freshmen of that school as a preliminary to the Ashville varsity's game against Groveport.

The county schedule lists six games Friday evening, but just where they will be played is not certain. A mixup in the schedule has failed to clear the question of which court will be used. Here are the games, however, Monroe vs. Williamsport, Scioto vs. New Holland, Darby vs. Pickaway, Perry vs. Saltcreek, and Washington vs. Ashville.

PURINA STAR COPS LOOP TALLY LEAD

The individual scoring lead in the City Cage league Tuesday was in the hands of Creighton Anderson, Ralston Purina star who gained his early schooling at Pickaway. Anderson has connected for 40 points, three more than H. Fausnaugh of Stoutsville, who performs with the Glitt market crew.

Others high in the ranks are Walter Gregg of Caskey's with 37; R. Justus, Eshelman, 36; Woodruff, Bach's, 32; Purcell, Eshelman, 28; J. Warner, Bach's 27; Kaiser, Caskey's, 26; Young, Coca Cola, 26; M. Justus, Glitt's 25, and Reichelderfer, Glitt's 25.

The Caskey Cleaners team, though not high in the standing, has outscored all teams in the loop, running up 131 counters in five contests. Glitt's market, tied for the top, is only one free throw behind. Coca Colas are in third spot with 118 and the Eshelman feed outfit has 117 in fourth. Other scorers are Bach's Insurance, 112; Purina feeds, 99; Wallace bakery, 89, and Stevenson furniture, 62.

The Purina team, and Anderson, will have a chance to boost their scoring standing Wednesday evening, the team taking on the hapless Stevenson furniture crew. The Stevenson outfit has averaged only 12.2 points in its early games and has been scored on almost at will.

Other games this week include Wallace bakery against Coca Cola, Bach insurance against Glitt's market and Caskey cleaners against Eshelman feeds. The Purina-Stevenson bout follows the Wallace-Coca Cola contest.

The league games have been attracting large crowds, the loop clicking in splendid form. Last week's games, witnessed by a smaller crowd than usual, were thrilling.

FOXX BELIEVES BAMBINO'S HIT MARK TO FALL

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25 — Jimmy Foxx, holder of the American league batting championship, with an average of .349 for the 1938 season, believes Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs will be smashed "eventually."

"Why not?" asked the burly first baseman of the Boston Red Sox today.

"Hank Greenberg of Detroit and I both have smacked 58 homers in a season—and if we can come that close, it seems likely that somebody will squeeze out three more circuit clouts for a new mark."

Modesty, although unique to many a player, forbade Jimmy from hazarding an opinion on his own chances of breaking the old Bambino's record. But, Foxx without hesitation, "I'll be out there trying."

"Hitters have been handicapped in recent years," continued Jimmy, "by the increasing number of rules that penalize long hits. For example, look at the high screen fences almost all the ball parks are putting up. And now there's a rule making a ball that bounces into the stands an automatic double instead of a homer."

Jimmy's taking things easy right now at his home in suburban Abington, rounding into shape for pre-season drills—and waiting to see what kind of a contract Tom Yawkey will send him. He wants a pay rise, but he isn't ex-

CUBS TO HAVE MUCH TROUBLE WITH CONTRACTS

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—A reported rash of unsigned contracts in the return mail was regarded today as the forerunner of a holdout epidemic in the ranks of the Chicago Cubs.

Although official information was lacking, word leaked out that several of the players had felt the salary terms offered by the club for 1939 were unsatisfactory.

Although the Cubs won the National league pennant with a final spurt, Cub officials are said to have been disgruntled with the team's weak showing against the Yankees in the World Series.

Beside a shift in the team lineup, which has already brought several new faces to the North side, reprisals against lack luster players were said to have taken the form of pay slashes.

Manager Gabby Hartnett, Pitchers Bill Lee and Dizzy Dean have already signed for the coming season, but the big majority of the team has yet to come in the fold.

The only ones signed and returned so far have been those of Rookie Pitchers Walter Kirby Higbe and Albert Paul Epperly.

ODDS GO AS HIGH AS 8 TO 1 ON JOE LOUIS TO RETAIN HEAVY TITLE

ADVANTAGE OF MANY POUNDS TO BE CHAMP'S

John Henry's Only Chance Is Based On Ability To Stay Distance

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Approximately $100,000 worth of cash customers will roar again tonight in Madison Square Garden, and possibly they will be heralding the crowning of a new world heavyweight champion, but more likely the chorused hollering will indicate that J. Barrow Louis has got his man, and that attendants can scrape up J. Henry Lewis and cart him away.

Louis, the champion, expecting to scale 201 pounds, and the challenger, at about 183, left their suburban camps today and motored to New York for weighing in ceremonies before the boxing commission surrounded by all the hoopla and excitement and kibitzing which customarily accompanies these proceedings.

Betting odds fluctuated between 6 and 8 to 1 on the ominously morose, sepia-toned champion to retain his pugilistic empire against the slightly darker hued challenger, and it was even money on a knockout inside of five rounds. But there was virtually no wagering. If the title should change gloved hands by some miracle, it will be one of the biggest upsets in boxing history, and the perpetration thereof will come about in the first all-Negro heavyweight championship fight ever held in America.

Lewis Seeks Decision

It generally was agreed today—with J. Henry adding to the note of unanimity—that his lone chance rests on his staying the scheduled 15 rounds and winning the decision. That would be a major surprise. If he should score a knockout the thing will be nothing less than a nice, neat little catastrophe visited on the assembled experts.

John Henry, a game fellow and a thoroughly competent workman among light heavyweights over whom he rules as champion everywhere except in New York state, is pinning all his hopes on his boxing ability and whatever speed he may be able to muster. The trouble is he has fattened up in last couple of years for heavyweight engagements and has, therefore, sacrificed some of his fast stepping. He never was much of a puncher.

On his side then is experience gained in 99 fights—this being his 100th—throughout seasoning, some speed, boxing finesse that is thrilling to watch, a fine left hand and unlimited courage. He has never been knocked out and has been floored in only two bouts.

The champion, in comparison, is a good boxer himself, and, although slow afoot with his scuffling, probably as fast with his hands as any heavyweight that ever lived, and almost literally a killer with his punches. He can't take a punch to the head too well, but probably won't have to tonight. He has so much all around class that I can't see how he can possibly miss.

For one thing he will have a physical advantage in height, reach and weight. As for age, they both will be 25 in May. Compared with Lewis' 100 fights dating over nearly a decade, the champion tonight enters his 41st, but this disparity in experience probably isn't significant.

The one thing against Louis' chances is a seven months' layoff since his last bout, when he stayed in Max Schmeling's side and sent him to the hospital. Moreover, in the last two years he has fought 48 rounds in eight bouts, contrasted with 252 rounds in 31 bouts in the same period engaged in by the challenger. This may be important before the evening is over, but it shouldn't be.

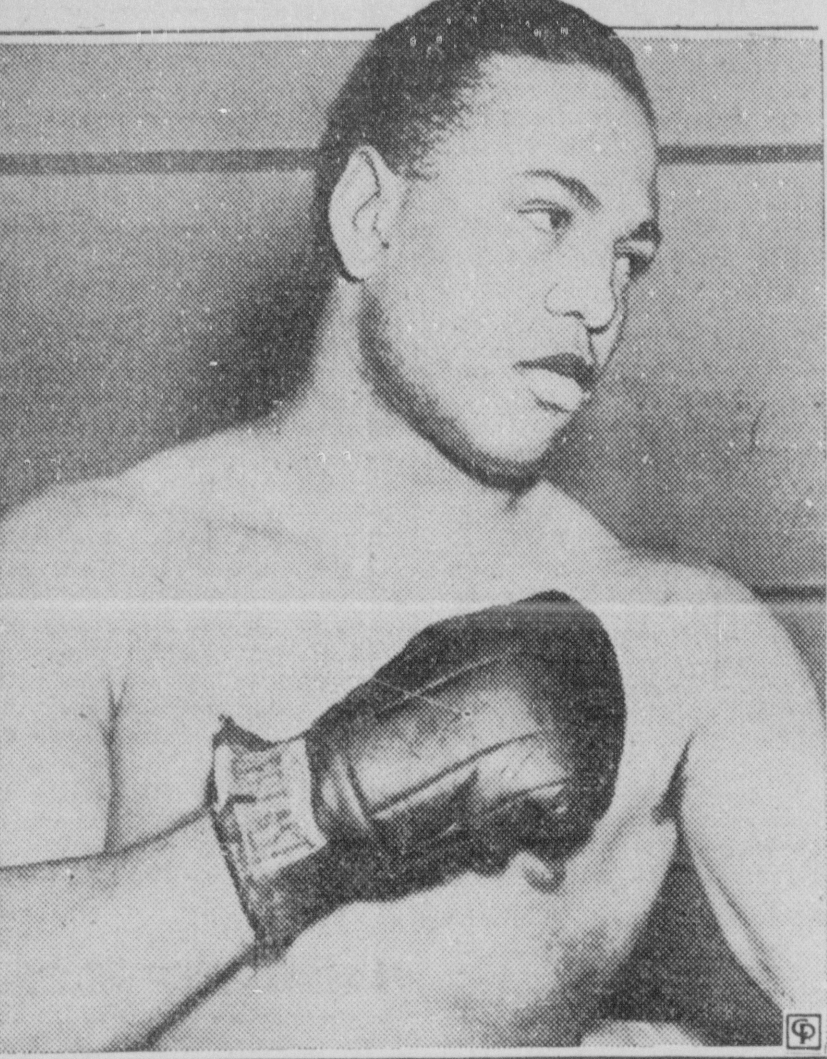

John Henry can't win unless he gets close enough to land his fists and anytime he gets that close he lays himself wide open to a brain-scrambling punch. Sooner or later he probably will be smashed into unconsciousness.

Sentiment Out

There is considerable discussion over the fact that the champion and challenger are friends outside the ring and that, therefore, Louis probably will be inclined to take it easy. I don't know about that. However, if Louis lets sentiment enter into anything so valuable as his heavyweight title, which has earned him $1,250,000 so far, he is a bigger sucker than his very smart handlers have ever let him appear to be. He may not be able to work up the homicidal rage he showed against Schmeling, whom he bested, but he still figures seams.

The latter's expressed battle cry is, "I won't run away; I'll box for a few rounds, then fight it out," and that probably is his requiem. By boxing he may elude the inevitable for the time being; by slugging he will get himself

Can Lewis Whip Louis?

IT PROMISES to be a tough night for radio announcers tonight when Joe Louis defends his world's heavyweight title against Light Heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis. Here's John Henry.

Sisler, Eddie Collins, Keeler In Fame's Hall

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—George Sisler, Eddie Collins and Wee Willie Keeler today join those other immortals—Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Cy Young, Tris Speaker, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Grover Alexander and Nap Lajoie—in the baseball hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The sports writers of the country cast 274 votes and of the three-fourths necessary to elect, Sisler received 235, Collins 213, and Keeler, 207. The writers named 108 players on their ballots.

It is true that there are others worthy of a place in the hall of fame, but surely no fault can be found with the choices thus far made.

Sisler was without doubt one of the greatest first basemen who ever lived. Many rank him on top. His lifetime batting average from 1915 to 1930 was .341. One year he hit an unbelievable .420 and another season .407, two marks the boys are still sniping at in vain. He still holds the American league record for hitting safely in 41 consecutive games and he was the first man to receive his league's "most valuable player award."

Lajoie or Collins?

It is a moot question whether Nap Lajoie or Eddie Collins was the greatest second baseman of all time. In any event, it is certain both were good enough, and now with both in the hall of fame their adherents should be satisfied.

Collins enjoyed one of the greatest major league careers on record with the Athletics and White Sox from 1906 to 1929 and over that stretch of years, he proved his class as a hitter, fielder, and base stealer. He was the brains of Connie Mack's famous infield that also carried Stuffy McInnis, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker as charter members. Incidentally, he played in six World's series and in three of them he hit more than 400.

Keeler, of course, was the author of the famous line giving the secret of successful hitting. "Hit 'em where they ain't," said the man who is generally rated the greatest bunter and place hitter of all time.

Keeler played with John McGraw, Wilbert Robinson and Hughie Jennings on the famous Baltimore Orioles, a team that originated smart inside baseball as we know it today.

Wee Willie was not only one of the game's best hitters but, old timers assure us, no better outfielder ever played. He hit more than .300 for 14 years, was National league champion in '97 and smeared all over the canvas, bringing about therewith the expected finish.

This will be Louis' fourth fight in Madison Square Garden and for the fourth time he may draw $100,000 or more as Promoter Mike Jacobs predicts, although more conservative estimates place the probable gate at about $80,000. The house is scaled to a maximum of $120,000, with the top price tickets at $16.50.

Is Fifth Defense

Also it will be the champion's fifth defense of the crown he won from Jim Braddock by a knockout at Chicago in June of 1937. He kept it by outpointing Tommy Farr and knocking out Nathan Mann, Harry Thomas and Max Schmeling, to clinch his position as the busiest heavyweight champion the ring has known.

That he will continue to reign seems ordained. In fact, he ought to be able to win whenever he chooses. It looks that easy.

RED AND BLACK TEAM TANGLES WITH HILLSBORO

Indians To Be Met On Foreign Court; Drills Stress Offensive

Circleville high school cagers step out in fast company Friday evening when they travel to Hillsboro to meet the mighty Indians of that city. Hillsboro's well-balanced cage team is recognized generally as one of southern Ohio's best.

The Red and Black crew, fresh from consecutive victories over Waverly, McArthur and Clarksburg, is drilling this week on bucket shooting, Coach Roy Black bending every effort to outscore the favored Hillsboro lads. Several deficiencies that bobbed up in the Clarksburg game are being ironed out, especially on defense. Coach Black believes the 34 points his boys scored against Clarksburg will be enough to win, but he is striving diligently for a stronger defense to combat the hot shooting Indians.

Hillsboro's scoring has been evenly divided all year, Willets, Stainforth and Lamb carrying the brunt of the attack.

Circleville school authorities have not gained any information concerning who the officials will be.

Reserves Also Play

The reserve teams of the two schools will play a preliminary. The Tiger squad expects to leave Circleville immediately after school is out Friday afternoon.

Reserve squad and freshman will get into action this week with the first activity scheduled Wednesday evening. The reserves will play Walnut township varsity at Walnut and the Circleville freshman team will take on the Walnut reserves. On Saturday evening, the freshmen, handled by Assistant Coach Tom Armstrong, will go to Ashville to play the freshmen of that school as a preliminary to the Ashville varsity's game against Groveport.

The county schedule lists six games Friday evening, but just where they will be played is not certain. A mixup in the schedule has failed to clear the question of which court will be used. Here are the games, however, Monroe vs. Williamsport, Scioto vs. New Holland, Darby vs. Pickaway, Perry vs. Salt Creek, and Washington vs. Ashville.

PURINA STAR COPS LOOP TALLY LEAD

The individual scoring lead in the City Cage league Tuesday was in the hands of Creighton Anderson, Ralston Purina star who gained his early schooling at Pickaway. Anderson has connected for 40 points, three more than H. Fausnaugh of Stoutsville, who performs with the Glitt market crew.

Others high in the ranks are Walter Gregg of Caskey's with 37; R. Justus, Eshelman, 36; Woodruff, Bach's, 32; Purcell, Eshelman, 28; J. Warner, Bach's 27; Kaiser, Caskey's, 26; Young, Coca Cola, 26; M. Justus, Glitt's 25, and Reichelderfer, Glitt's 25.

The Caskey Cleaners team, though not high in the standing, has outscored all teams in the loop, running up 131 counters in five contests. Glitt's market, tied for the top, is only one free throw behind. Coca Cola is in third spot with 118 and the Eshelman feed outfit has 117 in fourth. Other scorers are Bach's Insurance, 112; Purina feeds, 99; Wallace bakery, 89, and Stevenson furniture, 62.

The Purina team, and Anderson, will have a chance to boost their scoring standing Wednesday evening, the team taking on the hapless Stevenson furniture crew. The Stevenson outfit has averaged only 12.2 points in its early games and has been scored on almost at will.

Other games this week include Wallace bakery against Coca Cola, Bach insurance against Glitt's market and Caskey cleaners against Eshelman feeds. The Purina-Stevenson joust follows the Wallace-Coca Cola contest.

The league games have been attracting large crowds, the loop clicking in splendid form. Last week's games, witnessed by a smaller crowd than usual, were thrilling.

CROSBY PRESENTS

Bing Crosby introduces Holland's most distinguished singer, Miss Cote Vandermarck, in the Music Hall, Thursday, for her American radio debut. Other Music Hall guests appearing on the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 p. m. with Bing and Bob Burns are Humphrey Bogart, the accomplished portrayer of bad men on the screen, and Frances Mercer, one of the younger players of the films.

Cote Vandermarck has just arrived in this country for a concert tour and has been called by critics one of the best lieder singers of the last century. She is only 29 years old but has already achieved concert triumphs in Europe. In her home land she has sung regularly on the radio. She is one of the few continental artists who sing lyric as well as dramatic and coloratura roles. At one time she gave a command performance before Queen Mother Emma of the Netherlands.

EDDY IN FINAL

Nelson Eddy winds up his current season on the air Sunday, January 29. Listeners will have the last opportunity of the winter to hear Eddy this week. After the broadcast he takes a vacation and makes some concert appearances, returning to the hour in the late summer or fall.

Guest star on the broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. Sunday is Maureen O'Sullivan, who joins Eddy, Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Dorothy Lamour and Robert Armstrong's orchestra.

Miss O'Sullivan plays opposite Don Ameche in an original one act play written for the program and also is slated for the job of leading in an opus which Charlie McCarthy has dreamed up for the occasion.

This being his final appearance of the season Eddy plans to devote his program to numbers which many listeners have requested during the past six months.

Richard Hedges Elevated To Presidency; Merrill Bowman Elected

TWO SPEAKERS HEARD

John W. Tucker And D. H. Marcy Discuss Problems

Richard Hedges, Harrison township trustee, was elected president of the county association of township trustees and clerks at the annual meeting held Tuesday night in the Common Pleas courtroom. Mr. Hedges succeeds J. M. Hatfield, clerk of Monroe township.

Other officers elected were Merrill Bowman, trustee of Washington township, vice president, and Hugh Solt, clerk of Walnut township, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Bowman succeeds Mr. Hedges as vice president and Mr. Solt succeeds Harry Lane, clerk of Circleville township.

John W. Tucker, of Pataleska, vice president of the state association, urged the county officers to attend the state convention of the organization to be held in Columbus on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Legislation backed by the state organization was reviewed by Mr. Tucker.

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, spoke briefly at the meeting, explaining to Mr. Tucker the methods used in this county in handling relief. Cases he explained, are checked by both the trustees and the county office. They are certified from the various subdivisions to the county office.

CEMETERY ASSN. REELECTS SAME OFFICERS FOR '39

All officers of the Forest cemetery association were reelected at the annual reorganization meeting held Tuesday night in the courthouse.

The officers are E. S. Neuding, president; H. M. Crites, vice president; Miss Mary Ebert, treasurer, and E. O. Crites, secretary and cemetery superintendent. Mr. Crites has been superintendent of the cemetery for the last six years.

Terms of two directors, Messrs. Neuding and George F. Grand-Girard expired this year. Both were reelected for three year terms. The other directors are Mr. Crites, C. A. Leist, John S. Ritt, Guy Culp and Robert L. Brehmer.

An annual report presented by Mr. Crites showed that there were 143 burials in the cemetery during 1938, 10 more than in 1937.

A new explosive more powerful than nitroglycerin is called two-nitroglyceraltrinitrate. It ought to be great—a man can almost explode pronouncing it.

Radio Stars Aid Eagles' Opening

There will be no program of speeches Wednesday night when Circleville's Aerie No. 685, Fraternal Order of Eagles, holds the formal opening of the remodeled and enlarged home.

The program will include a floor show and round and square dancing with music and the show provided by the musical Brakemen of the Boone County Jamboree troupe of WLW, Cincinnati. The public is invited to the entertainment.

MEETINGS UNDER WAY TO EXPLAIN FARM PROGRAM TO COUNTIANS

THREE SESSIONS HELD TUESDAY FOR DISCUSSION

Acreage Allotments Handed Out On Basis Of Average Crops Planted

First of the series of meetings in townships to explain the 1939 farm program was held Tuesday night.

Paul Matthes, secretary of the Pickaway County Agricultural Conservation committee, said attendance for the three meetings averaged 20 persons for each.

Residents of Madison and Wayne townships met in their respective school buildings. Those of Circleville and Washington townships met at the Washington township school.

Rural folk of Saltcreek and Pickaway townships will meet Wednesday night in their schools. Those of Harrison township will meet in the Duval school.

Perry township residents will meet Thursday in the Atlanta school. Those of Jackson and Walnut townships will meet in their respective schools. All meetings are held at 7:30 p. m.

Allotments Apportioned

State acreage allotments for corn and wheat have been apportioned among the counties on the basis of the acreage planted in past years, plus the acreage diverted from corn or wheat under programs during the years 1928 to 1937, with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage. Allotments will be assigned to individual farmers in January.

The state chairman stated that, under the 1939 program, farmers will know well ahead of Spring planting what the program offers and can make their plans accordingly. In 1938, the program was not available until after all the winter wheat had been seeded and farmers were ready to plant other crops.

The basic framework of the new program is essentially the same as last year's program, he said, and the only changes made are those which are necessary because of changed crop conditions or to simplify administration.

The act continues to provide for soil conservation and for a safe level of agricultural production. It offers considerably increased payments to corn and wheat producers in the form of parity payments. The 1939 corn rate will be nine cents per bushel plus a parity payment between five and six cents per bushel or a total payment between 14 and 15 cents per bushel as compared with the 1938 payment of 10 cents, for the normal yield on the allotted acreage.

Wheat Payments Up

The wheat payment has been increased to between 27 and 29 cents per bushel as compared to 12 cents per bushel of the normal yield of the allotted acreage in 1938. Other changes include the establishment of commercial vegetable allotments in designated areas; additional flexibility for the benefit of small farmers, and the addition of certain soil-building practices.

STRANGE WATCH FOUND IN SHOP AT ROCKY FORD

ROCKY FORD, Colo., Jan. 25—A watch manufactured for use in Persia or Turkey a century ago recently turned up in a Rocky Ford jewelry shop for repairs.

Curious about the peculiar V-shaped numerals on the pink face of the timepiece, the jeweler wrote to a watch manufacturer describing the watch and asked for information in behalf of the owner, W. D. Hoffman of La Junta, Colo. The manufacturer said that the numerals indicate that the watch was made for either the Turkish or the Persian market, probably in the period from 1795 to 1840. The fact that only an initial instead of a watchmaker's name is engraved in the back of the watch was explained by the information that in years gone by only timekeepers offered by certain favored manufacturers or dealers whose names were registered were allowed to enter Turkey.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

There is a good way to treat those hard to keep nice places in stained floors. You know, those places that get the most wear and grow to look light and scuffed. Keep on hand an extra tin of liquid floor polish. Into this put about half a teaspoon of permanganate of potash. Shake well and you have a polish that you can "patch" with, for it will gradually stain the worn places without leaving the usual "dark edges." Use this only for the places that are badly worn.

FRANCO'S THREE ARMIES PRIMED FOR ONSLAUGHT

Forces May Converge On City Wednesday Or Thursday, Advices Declare

(Continued from Page One) co's forces poured incessant artillery and aerial bombardments on Barcelona, hoping to break up the defenses sufficiently to permit capture of the capital within a day or two.

Onslaughts Resisted

But the government troops, reinforced by reserves hastily rushed from civilian tasks to the firing line, resisted the onslaughts of the attackers feverishly in a bitter, last-ditch battle.

As the inexorable forward drive of Franco's legions continued, a large party of foreign correspondents and the government's censorship department left for Gerona and Figueras to the North. At a late hour today, the French embassy was the only diplomatic mission remaining at Barcelona.

Artillery shells and aerial bombs rained down on Barcelona as the ground forces of Franco waited for the signal to storm the inner city. To stem the tide, government defenders, reinforced by thousands of volunteers, desperately prepared for a last stand—a battle that may prove one of the decisive clashes of history.

As a slogan the government forces and reserves adopted this battle cry:

"We will defend our city or die in its streets!"

Saltcreek-twp SCHOOL NEWS

The first semester at Saltcreek school ended Jan. 13. Semester examinations were given in the high school on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday. The school was visited by G. D. McDowell, county superintendent, on Tuesday, Jan. 11.

There were sixty persons throughout the student body of the school who had perfect attendance for the first semester. We are glad that Billy Lutz, who has been absent for several weeks with pneumonia, is much improved and will be back with us again soon. The winners in the poster contest advertising the Farmers Institute which was held at the school Jan. 13 and 14 are as follows: Grades 10 to 12, Freda Walliser, 1; Francis Fraunfelder, 2; Esther Walliser, 3; grades 7 to 9, Billy Rihl, 1; Jennie Anderson, 2; Marjorie Bower, 3; grades 1 to 6, Louise Hawk, 1; Betty Joe Minshall, 2; Ann Spencer, 3.

The music department has begun to practice for the operetta, "Jerry of Jericho Roads," by Estelle and Palmer Clark. This will be given Feb. 8. Twelve members of the elementary grades have purchased saxettes and have appeared on several programs recently.

We are constantly adding new material to our classrooms in order to keep the students progressing. The primary room has received a new primary reading chart. The board recently made appropriations for new library books in each room.

The third and fourth grade boys and girls have just completed a study of Eskimo life. They made an Igloo booklet and told some of things learned. Each student has written his own stories about Homes, ways of travel, food animals and Eskimo names. The blackboard border for January contains a series of Eskimo pictures.

At a recent meeting of the board, J. L. Reichelderfer was elected president. Dwight Rector was elected vice president and Lawrence Spencer, clerk.

FULLER AT CONFERENCE ON BUILDING PROGRAM

Charles W. Fuller, of the Circleville Lumber Co., is attending one of the most important building industry conferences ever held in Ohio this week at the National Housing Guild "school" in Cleveland.

Scheduled to convene at the Hotel Carter, the conference attracts more than 300 representatives of leading building supply firms throughout this and neighboring states. The meeting is being held under the sponsorship of Johns-Manville and will last eight days.

The conference, T. O. Gilliland, manager, stated is devoted to a study of problems concerning the building industry and of ways to solve them. Full information concerning the Housing Guild movement and complete "schooling" in its techniques will be a major part of the conference programme.

One of the features of the 1939 Housing Guild program to be described at the meeting, Mr. Gilliland declared, will be the Guildway Small-House-Club plan, which provides 10 house designs for guild dealers, to be made available throughout the nation this month. The designs, to be adapted by local architects, built locally by contractors co-operating with the guild, and financed locally, are expected to provide new high values in small home construction.

The meeting in Cleveland this week will be one of the series of seven Housing Guild schools to be held in leading cities in the United States and Canada during the winter. More than 3,000 building material dealers and their salesmen are expected to attend the schools, the largest in the several year's history of the guild movement in America.

NEWEST INVENTIONS

WASHINGTON, Ind., Jan. 25—Ball-bearing door hinges, and an anti-skid attachment for shoes, designed to prevent pedestrians from slipping on icy underfooting, are two devices on which Paul Wimmerauer, of Washington recently has received patents from the United States government. The auxiliary sole is composed of many stud-like calks extending from the bottom, and arranged in rows so as to prevent slipping. It may be securely and quickly attached to shoes, allowing the wearer to walk on icy pavements in safety, its inventor claimed.

EYE IS OFFERED FOR MONEY BY MAN OUT OF JOB

Such was the offer made by Lee Miller, 26 year old unemployed linotype operator and printer.

For several years hard luck and misfortune have dogged Miller's attempts to make a living for himself and his three children and to help support his mother. Short-time jobs have not been sufficient to provide for his dependents.

"I'm not crazy or seeking publicity. I've thought it all over for a long time and I'm convinced this is the thing for me to do," Miller explained.

Miller conceived the idea of selling his eye after reading of cornea operations which have restored sight to a number of persons. He said he had not set price for his eye, but hoped that it would bring him several thousand dollars—enough to take care of his dependents and start him in some little business.

tion mandate that there should be no earmarking of state funds. Governor Bricker's position has been that funds appropriated by the legislature should be credited to the general revenue fund.

The four bills introduced would affect the intangibles, tax liquor revenues, sales tax and use tax.

The bill to abolish earmarking of revenues from the sales tax was introduced by Sen. Charles W. Maston (R-Trinway). It provides for a flat allocation of $12,000,000 in 1939 and 1940 for local subdivisions.

Liquor monopoly profits in the past several years have been earmarked for old age pension payments. The new bill would appropriate a definite amount for the purpose.

The federal social security board was served with a notice that Ohio demands restoration of October old age pensions amounting to $1,360,000 when the senate adopted a joint resolution to that effect.

The resolution was offered by Sens. Fred L. Adams (R-Bowling Green) and Don R. Thomas (D-Dayton). It was to go to the house today for concurrence.

MANY JAPANESE CARPET-BAGGERS SPEED TO CHINA

PEIPING, Jan. 25—The second rush of Japanese carpet-baggers to the Asiatic mainland in the past seven years today is directed to North and Central China. These get-rich-quick Nipponese seem to have forgotten all about the much publicized Paradise of Manchukuo which, at the time of its seizure in 1931, was represented as Japan's life line.

Shipping circles in Kobe report thousands of Japanese clamoring for passage, chiefly to the port of Tientsin. Authorities state that these Japanese have marked out Tientsin and Peking as their bases for onslaughts against the North China hinterland.

The demand for transportation is so great that the Japanese police have found it necessary to make the strictest investigation into applications for papers to travel to China. However, from the general tone of many of those who manage to reach North China, considerably more restriction is in order.

Spokesmen in Peking admit that the Japanese communities in but nine cities of North China already number 111,456 persons, and the rush is just getting under way. Tientsin with 33,312 and Peking with 29,001 Japanese head the list. The port city of Tsingtao has 19,559, while comparatively small inland cities like Kalgan has 9,289, Tsinanfu 7,737, Shihchiachuang 6,452 and Taiyuanfu 3,868.

Before the war there probably were not a dozen Japanese living in Taiyuanfu. These figures, of course, cover only Nipponese civilians and comprise men, women and children.

FRANCO'S THREE ARMIES PRIMED FOR ONSLAUGHT

Forces May Converge On City Wednesday Or Thursday, Advices Declare

co's forces poured incessant artillery and aerial bombardments on Barcelona, hoping to break up the defenses sufficiently to permit capture of the capital within a day or two.

Onslaughts Resisted

But the government troops, reinforced by reserves hastily rushed from civilian tasks to the firing line, resisted the onslaughts of the attackers feverishly in a bitter, last-ditch battle.

As the inexorable forward drive of Franco's legions continued, a large party of foreign correspondents and the government's censorship department left for Gerona and Figueras to the North. At a late hour today, the French embassy was the only diplomatic mission remaining at Barcelona.

Artillery shells and aerial bombs rained down on Barcelona as the ground forces of Franco waited for the signal to storm the inner city. To stem the tide, government defenders, reinforced by thousands of volunteers, desperately prepared for a last stand—a battle that may prove one of the decisive clashes of history.

As a slogan the government forces and reserves adopted this battle cry:

"We will defend our city or die in its streets!"

Saltcreek-twp SCHOOL NEWS

The first semester at Saltcreek school ended Jan. 13. Semester examinations were given in the high school on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday. The school was visited by G. D. McDowell, county superintendent, on Tuesday, Jan. 11.

There were sixty persons throughout the student body of the school who had perfect attendance for the first semester. We are glad that Billy Lutz, who has been absent for several weeks with pneumonia, is much improved and will be back with us again soon. The winners in the poster contest advertising the Farmers Institute which was held at the school Jan. 13 and 14 are as follows: Grades 10 to 12, Freda Waliser, 1; Francis Fraunfelter, 2; Esther Waliser, 3; grades 7 to 9, Billy Rihl, 1; Jennie Anderson, 2; Marjorie Bower, 3; grades 1 to 6, Louise Hawk, 1; Betty Joe Minshall, 2; Ann Spencer, 3.

The music department has begun to practice for the operetta, "Jerry of Jericho Road," by Estelle and Palmer Clark. This will be given Feb. 8. Twelve members of the elementary grades have purchased saxettes and have appeared on several programs recently.

We are constantly adding new material to our classrooms in order to keep the students progressing. The primary room has received a new primary reading chart. The board recently made appropriations for new library books in each room.

The third and fourth grade boys and girls have just completed a study of Eskimo life. They made an Igloo booklet and told some of the things learned. Each student has written his own stories about Homes, ways of travel, food animals and Eskimo names. The blackboard border for January contains a series of Eskimo pictures.

At a recent meeting of the board, J. L. Reichelderfer was elected president. Dwight Rector was elected vice president and Lawrence Spencer, clerk.

FULLEN AT CONFERENCE ON BUILDING PROGRAM

Charles W. Fullen, of the Circleville Lumber Co., is attending one of the most important building industry conferences ever held in Ohio this week at the National Housing Guild "school" in Cleveland.

Scheduled to convene at the Hotel Carter, the conference attracts more than 300 representatives of leading building supply firms throughout this and neighboring states. The meeting is being held under the sponsorship of Johns-Manville and will last eight days.

The conference, T. O. Gilliland, manager, stated is devoted to a study of problems concerning the building industry and of ways to solve them. Full information concerning the Housing Guild movement and complete "schooling" in its techniques will be a major part of the conference programme.

One of the features of the 1939 Housing Guild program to be described at the meeting, Mr. Gilliland declared, will be the Guildway Small-Home-Club plan, which provides 10 house designs for guild dealers, to be made available throughout the nation this month. The designs, to be adapted by local architects, built locally by contractors co-operating with the guild, and financed locally, are expected to provide new high values in small home construction.

The meeting in Cleveland this week will be one of the series of seven Housing Guild schools to be held in leading cities in the United States and Canada during the winter. More than 3,000 building material dealers and their salesmen are expected to attend the schools, the largest in the several years' history of the guild movement in America.

NEWEST INVENTIONS

WASHINGTON, Ind., Jan. 25.—Ball-bearing door hinges, and an anti-slip attachment for shoes, designed to prevent pedestrians from slipping on icy underfooting, are two devices on which Paul Wimmerman, of Washington recently has received patents from the United States government. The auxiliary sole is composed of many stud-like calks extending from the bottom, and arranged in rows so as to prevent slipping. It may be securely and quickly attached to shoes, allowing the wearer to walk on icy pavements in safety, its inventor claimed.

The ministry of popular culture also denied rumors that thousands of reservists had been called to the colors in connection with the Mediterranean situation. Nevertheless, it was admitted:

"Some old classes which did not see service during the World War have been partially recalled to the colors for special training."

EYE IS OFFERED FOR MONEY BY MAN OUT OF JOB

Such was the offer made by Lee Miller, 26 year old unemployed linotype operator and printer.

For several years hard luck and misfortune have dogged Miller's attempts to make a living for himself and his three children and to help support his mother. Short-time jobs have not been sufficient to provide for his dependents.

"I'm not crazy or seeking publicity. I've thought it all over for a long time and I'm convinced this is the thing for me to do," Miller explained.

Miller conceived the idea of selling his eye after reading of cornea operations which have restored sight to a number of persons. He said he had not set price for his eye, but hoped that it would bring him several thousand dollars—enough to take care of his dependents and start him in some little business.

BIG RELIEF BILL REACHES FLOOR OF LEGISLATURE

tion mandate that there should be no earmarking of state funds. Governor Bricker's position has been that funds appropriated by the legislature should be credited to the general revenue fund.

The four bills introduced would affect the intangibles, tax liquor revenues, sales tax and use tax.

The bill to abolish earmarking of revenues from the sales tax was introduced by Sen. Charles W. Maston (R-Trinway). It provides for a flat allocation of $12,000,000 in 1939 and 1940 for local subdivisions.

Liquor monopoly profits in the past several years have been earmarked for old age pension payments. The new bill would appropriate a definite amount for the purpose.

The federal social security board was served with a notice that Ohio demands restoration of October old age pensions amounting to $1,380,000 when the senate adopted a joint resolution to that effect.

The resolution was offered by Sens. Fred L. Adams (R-Bowling Green) and Don R. Thomas (D-Dayton). It was to go to the house today for concurrence.

MANY JAPANESE CARPET-BAGGERS SPEED TO CHINA

PEIPING, Jan. 25.—The second rush of Japanese carpet-baggers to the Asiatic mainland in the past seven years today is directed to North and Central China. These get-rich-quick Nipponese seem to have forgotten all about the much publicized Paradise of Manchukuo which, at the time of its seizure in 1931, was represented as Japan's life line.

Shipping circles in Kobe report thousands of Japanese clamoring for passage, chiefly to the port of Tientsin. Authorities state that these Japanese have marked out Tientsin and Peking as their bases for onslaughts against the North China hinterland.

The demand for transportation is so great that the Japanese police have found it necessary to make the strictest investigation into applications for papers to travel to China. However, from the general tone of many of those who manage to reach North China, considerably more restriction is in order.

Spokesmen in Peking admit that the Japanese communities in but nine cities of North China already number 111,456 persons, and the rush is just getting under way. Tientsin with 33,312 and Peking with 29,001 Japanese head the list. The port city of Tsingtao has 19,559, while comparatively small inland cities like Kaigan has 9,289, Tsinanfu 7,737, Shihchiachung 6,452 and Taiyuanfu 3,868.

Before the war there probably were not a dozen Japanese living in Taiyuanfu. These figures, of course, cover only Nipponese civilians and comprise men, women and children.
